ARMISTICE DAY OBSERVES WITH CEREMONIES

Community Service at Christ Church Cathedral Addressed by Rabbi Leon Harrison.

TRIUMPHANT SPEAKERS AT ST. LOUIS U.

numerous Meetings and Programs Arranged by Civic, Fraternal and Other Organizations.

The principal feature today of St. Louis observance of the anniversary of the armistice ending the World War was a community service in Christ Church Cathedral at noon, when Rabbi Leon Harrison of Temple Israel called for world peace and recalled for world peace and recalled for the cause of war.

St. Louis observed the day with the presentation of national colors and school colors and with patriotic addresses in offices and courts, schools, and exchanges were closed. In most commercial establishments there was business as usual. General offices remained open, the nation has not officially opened the holiday, except in Illinois. Flags were displayed on alleys, homes, stores, trolley cars.

Illinois: It is a legal holiday in Illinois. Eight years ago this morning at the eleventh hour of the eleventh month of the eleventh year of the twentieth century, "cease fire" was sounded after the General Assembly of the Western front in a railroad car to confirm armistice. St. Louis, with a spirit of the civilized world, celebrated with joy on that great and on its early anniversaries even parades and other man-nings and Ceremonies.

Arkansas: Tonight and tomorrow, fair, warmer.

Sunset 4:50; sunrise (tomorrow) 6:11.

Stage of the Mississippi 11.8 feet no change.

HARVARD MAKES APOLOGIES FOR PRINCETON SLUR

President and Dean at Cambridge Telegraph Regrets, Disavowing Attacks in Student Publication.

SPORT RELATIONS ARE BROKEN OFF

New Jersey University Finds It Impossible to Continue Without Cordial Good Will.

NEW YORK, Nov. 11.—Princeton's break with Harvard was preceded by apologies telegraphed to Princeton by President Lowell and Dean Greenough of Harvard for articles appearing in the Harvard Lampoon.

The New York Times today prints the telegrams as follows:

"To President Hibben: You can imagine how humiliated we feel here by the action of the Lampoon. The policy of not censoring undergraduate publications is, I believe, in the long run right, but it is subject occasionally to breaches of propriety which give a false impression of the student attitude toward our friends in other institutions. This is particularly true of a comic paper. I can only tell you and all Princeton men how badly we fail to conduct that is wholly repugnant to the sentiments of Harvard."

"Yours very sincerely,

"A. LAWRENCE F. LOWELL."

"To Dean Gauss: I have just read the Princeton number of the Lampoon. It seems to me to require apology, and as Dean of Harvard College I apologize to you and to them for having shown such a lack of tact. I apologize to you as Dean of Princeton College for utterances which cannot help have a bad effect on the relations of the two colleges."

"C. M. GREENOUGH."

It was learned today that the Senior Council undergraduate governing body at Princeton sent a letter to the Harvard Student Committee on Tuesday asking for a "true expression of Harvard undergraduate feeling toward Princeton."

No answer had been received by the time the action was taken by the board of athletic control.

Princeton last Saturday defeated Harvard at football at Cambridge, 12-12.

Howard Elliott, chairman of the Northern Pacific railroad and president of the Board of Overseers of Harvard University, today issued a statement expressing the hope that the authorities of Harvard and Princeton would come together and "bury the hatchet."

He said he regretted the strained relations and that, although Princeton "may be justified in severing all athletic relations with Harvard," he hoped for a settlement. The situation, he said, affects much more the graduates of the colleges than it affects the undergraduates, the athletic teams, the Lampoon or the Crimson. He feared that "this unfortunate incident will strain the pleasant and useful relations" of the graduates.

"For these two national institutions," the statement said, "to show to the world that they cannot engage in many sports without friction and bad feelings weakens their influence in the nation and does not help the general cause of world education."

PRINCETON ACTION BREAKS 'BIG THREE'

By the Associated Press.

PRINCETON, N. J., Nov. 11.—One link of the "Big Three" chain, strained to cracking point by the jokes of a Harvard humorous publication, has finally smashed and carried away with it the most colorful and ancient rivalry of the American college world.

Dr. Charles W. Kennedy, chairman of the board of athletic control at Princeton University, announced that all athletic relations with Harvard have been broken. Resolutions adopted by the board and sent to Harvard authorities say that "Princeton would never accept the implications of the athletic policy recently adopted by the Harvard Committee on Regulation of Athletic Sports set forth in their resolution of Oct. 14."

The nature of the Harvard resolution was somewhat of a mystery when the break was announced last night. The resolution was re-

INDICT MERCHANT FOR PLOT TO BEAT FEDERAL TAXES

L. G. OLIAN NAMED IN TRUE-BILL—Was Beneficiary of City Assessment Frauds Uncovered in 1923.

Louis G. Olian, president of the Olian Waist and Dress Co., one of the beneficiaries of the tax assessment frauds uncovered at the city hall in 1923, was indicted by the Federal grand jury today on two counts, one of conspiracy to defraud the Government of income, excess profits and war profits taxes, and the other of failure to report income from apartment houses owned by him.

His bookkeeper, Ernest C. Ellman, was jointly indicted on the conspiracy charge. The cases are set for trial Dec. 16 in Judge Davis' court.

The conspiracy indictment lists gross sand net income for the four years, 1920 to 1923, inclusive, as determined by Federal investigators, and charges that lower income figures were reported in Olian's returns. The so-called war profits taxes were payable during the same years.

Olian refused to subscribe to his agreement.

YALE WILL CONTINUE TO MEET BOTH SCHOOLS.

By the Associated Press.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Nov. 11.—The passing of the "Big Three" was a matter of deep regret at Yale to day. Many here view the breakup of the triple agreement as tragic.

While Princeton and Harvard have ended athletic relations there will be no immediate change in Yale's relations with either university. This is announced by George H. Nettleton, chairman of the Board of Control of the Yale Athletic Association, who a month ago with the athletic directors of two other members of the "Big Three" signed an agreement which had been expected to preserve the triumvirate.

Princeton rooters had a fight with Boston policemen in the Harvard Stadium. The police failed to prevent the goal posts from being torn down in Princeton's celebration of its victory, and what was most serious, The Harvard Lampoon, sold to the football throng, had tart jibes at Princeton.

Although The Lampoon apologized and authorities at the university joined in admitting the poor taste shown, the feelings of the party of the institutions flared into open hostility despite efforts of President Hibben of Princeton and The Crimson, a daily Harvard newspaper, to pour oil on the troubled waters.

The Lampoon said: "While it is customary at times of athletic invasion to extend the glad hand to the visitors, Lampy sees no reason to disguise the fact that the brotherly love and friendly rivalry existing between Harvard and Princeton are purely imaginary."

The magazine had hints at loose morals and drinking proclivities at Princeton.

A cartoon showing two infidels was underlined. "Come, brother, let us root for dear old Princeton." There were references to chorus girls and Broadway.

An editorial ended with the statement: "After all, there nothing like a good hate."

WHAT BARBARA OVERLOOKED.

Barbara is not gifted—or cursed with imagination, and apparently it did not occur to her that she was looking on at a drama more thrilling, more poignant, more terrible than any over which she ever wpt and shuddered in her beloved movies. For she was watching a woman with a breaking heart trying to carry on and keep up appearances, and to hide from the world as long as possible the fact that her husband was missing. Ashamed to call up the police and tell them that she feared that he had run away with another woman. Making pitiful excuses to his church people. Having his clothes set in order as if, by providing for his needs, she could make him come back. Doing anything to keep from thinking, to keep from facing the truth.

Or else she was watching a woman who carried the secret of a ghastly murder in her heart, and who waited through endless desperate hours for the messenger to come to tell her it had been discovered.

Either way you can picture nothing worse this side of purgatory than those two nights and that day of sorrow that Mrs. Hall went through between the disappearance of her husband and the finding of the dead bodies beneath the crumpled tree.

The balance of the day was mostly taken up with the testimony of Totten, the grim-faced policeman who was the officer on the scene of the tragedy, and who told over again for the thousandth time about his search for clues and his finding of the letters and the cards, the handkerchiefs, and so on—the ghastly bits of evidence that are dragged forth from the freshmen on varsity teams and other rules. In addition, Princeton and Yale have an agreement not to scout each other at football.

Princeton and Yale are to continuous features of athletic policy which the "Big Three" had adopted, including limitation of football practice to after Sept. 15, barring of freshmen on varsity teams and other rules. In addition, Princeton and Yale have an agreement not to scout each other at football.

PRESIDENT'S TRAIN TO PASS THROUGH CITY AT MIDNIGHT

On the Way Back to Washington; Was Here for an Hour Last Night.

President and Mrs. Coolidge and party will pass through St. Louis about midnight tonight on their way back from Kansas City to Washington, and their brief presence here is expected to be as uneventful as during a similar period last night when they paused in St. Louis on the westward journey.

For an hour last night the President's special train was parked in the yards outside Union Station while supplies were obtained and locomotives changed, but the official party had retired and the only wakeful persons about the coaches were secret service men, newspaper and railroad employees.

Arriving at 11:50 p. m. over the Pennsylvania, the train departed about 12:50 a. m. on the Missouri Pacific. An effort was made as quickly as possible, to avoid disturbing presidential slumber. There were three Pullmans and parlor, club and dining cars in the train. A number of packages were delivered to it, including two which apparently were bouquets for Mrs. Coolidge.

Many recommendations of mankind in this matter of war and peace.

Colors Presented to Unit.

At St. Louis University Col. Max N. Taft, commanding Jefferson Barracks, presented the national colors to the Medical-Dental Maj. George R. Tressel, assistant professor of military science and tactics at the university, accepted the colors in the name of the school.

The Very Rev. C. H. Cloud, S. J., president of St. Louis University presented the school colors to the student body, and Elmer D. Hoff, a dental student, accepted.

Maj. Perry J. Carroll, professor of military science and tactics, who presided over the ceremonies held on the university quadrangle, recalled that Marshal Foch of France, from a platform on the same spot six years ago, when he was not successful and he had been a model soldier in the penitentiary, had pointed out that the change he was attempting might lead to an international calamity.

We hope the International Court of Justice, which they are intended to prevent fighting? Why not reconstitute them so you would have them as even the most obstinate would have them and thus the best of our abilities and powers secure the peace of the world?

FOUR ARMISTICE DAY PAROLES FROM BAND

Governor Follows Custom Observing Holidays With Acts of Clemency.

By the Jefferson City Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, Nov. 11.—Gov. Baker yesterday granted parole to four convicts in the Penitentiary as Armistice Day gifts. This was in line with his policy of observing various official holidays with executive clemency for serving prisoners.

The four paroled convicts are Leo W. Lively, Austin Williams, Ernest Gooseberry and Roy E. Williams.

Lively was sentenced to two years in the penitentiary from Davis County for receiving deposits in the bank of Jamesport, of which he was cashier, while knowing the bank was insolvent. He entered the penitentiary on Dec. 1925, and had served less than months of his sentence.

Many recommendations of clemency for Lively were received from bankers in the northeastern part of the State who knew he is the first banker convicted of a violation of the banking laws.

Williams, a Negro, was sentenced to a term of 15 years in St. Louis County on a charge of second degree murder in 1924.

He was paroled to Ralph J. Woods, St. Louis.

Gooseberry, a Negro, was sentenced to 12 years from Cass County on a charge of murder of his brother-in-law, Landon E. Baker, in the parlor. He entered the penitentiary in May, 1922.

Roy E. Williams was serving a 25-year sentence from June 21, 1923, on charge of mayhem. He was convicted of throwing sulphuric acid in a number of hospitals.

She said she wanted to serve individually for their services to the allies and especially to our country.

Queen Marie stepped back from the microphone which was placed beside her private car, Princess Martha Love, and her four special maids, Mayor Miller's wife and mother, and wives of three former presidents of the Chamber of Commerce. This committee will assemble at the Gatesworth Hotel.

Cannon to Salute Queen.

A salute will be fired by a field piece in Forest Park upon the arrival of the train.

As the Queen leaves the train, the military band from the barracks will play the Rumanian national anthem.

A color guard, bearing the American and Rumanian flags, will lead the royal party, while 150 soldiers stand at attention.

On arrival at Kansas City, Marie plans to place a wreath on the Liberty Memorial and broadcast a message from the platform from which President Coolidge delivered his dedication address.

Following an entertainment program, including a reception at a private home, the royal party is scheduled to depart for St. Louis soon after mid-night.

Queen's Message of Peace.

A note of peace and friendship was sounded by the Queen in hanking Denver for its reception.

"We do not come these days as Kings and Queens to receive gold and frankincense," she said. "We come with another message—a message of friendship. We believe that as the world gets old, we may need more to those things which make life sweet for humanity. The message I bring with me is one of peace and love."

Eugene greeted Marie with a roar and hand display, then took her to Lookout Mountain to see Buffalo Bill's grave and to have luncheon at the Charles Hootcher residence. She greeted Denver school children in the afternoon after a visit to Fitzsimmons Hospital where she talked to patients.

Following a review of the Olinger Highlanders at the State Capitol, she was the guest of honor at a banquet given by the Mile High Club.

Lore Fuller Quits Train.

With the departure in Denver today of Miss Lore Fuller, one involved in the controversy over removal from the train's party, Miss Fuller, her present, Miss May Birkhead, and her son, Miss Gabrielle Bloch, all of their own accord, to a business engagement in New York. They went in a special car, the understanding that they remain with the party as long as desired as guests of Queen and Col. John H. Carroll, her host. Miss Fuller, who is engaged to the millionaire Bill Hill, in his Maryhill, Wash., venture, said good-by to just before the Queen set to enjoy Denver's reception.

At the party at Spokane, the Queen paid fare.

Why should't Queen Pay Fare? Congressman Asks.

By the Associated Press.

OMAHA, Neb., Nov. 11.—Congressman A. C. Shallenberger of Nebraska member of the House Committee on Interstate and Foreign Commerce, said today he planned to conduct an investigation to learn if the Burlington Railroad is charging Queen Marie's trip to the American public or is transporting her free.

"Her trip can be borne better by the Federal Government or the Rumanian Government than by the overburdened taxpayers of the Middle West," he said. "The President must pay to travel, so why should not the Queen of a foreign Government pay, especially when the railroads are so hard up to make enough money to pay their dividends?"

The Congressman said that if statements attributed to Col. John Carroll, in charge of her train, are true, the Queen's journey across the United States violated at least the spirit of existing law governing railroad transportation.

SPRING WATER STOCK BARRED IN MISSOURI

Buffalo Lithia Corporation Is Forbidden to Sell Shares
In State.

By the Jefferson City Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, Nov. 11.—Promoters of the Buffalo Lithia Spring Corporation of Virginia, whose literature informed prospective investors that a fortune awaited the man "who can fill the cup that does most to cheer, even though it does nothing toward inebriating," today were ordered by State Securities Commissioner Stockard to make no further attempts to sell stock in Missouri.

Stockard also issued a warning to the public against purchase of the stock.

The order was directed to the brokerage firm of Bennett, Post & Coghill of New York, which issued the promotion literature, on the ground the stock never had been qualified for sale in Missouri and no application had been filed for a stock-selling permit. The action followed a complaint by the St. Louis Better Business Bureau.

The prospectus, reinforced by quotations from Shakespeare, told prospects that prohibition had brought about an unprecedented condition in the beverage field and that millions in profits that formerly went to the brewers now were awaiting the "makers of drinks that tickle the palates or tone up the stomachs and kidneys of the very same public."

Shares of preferred stock were offered at $35 each, with a half share of common stock thrown in as an inducement, in the Buffalo Lithia Spring Corporation, formed to develop a spring in Mecklenburg County, Virginia. The spring was said to have been discovered 200 years ago by the founder of Richmond, Va., with the aid of a "grateful Indian."

NEW YORK ASSUMES TITLE TO LAND FOR AUTO SPEEDWAY

Elevated Road Is Part of $22,000,- 000 Shore Front Improvement Program.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Nov. 11.—Manhattan is to have an elevated motor speedway along the Hudson from Seventy-second street to Canal street, part of it over the New York Central Railroad tracks. The Sinking Fund Commission voted yesterday to vest title in the city to the necessary waterfront property, worth $2,000,000.

The speedway is part of a shore front improvement plan which will require expenditure of almost $25,000,000. Two new steamship piers, large enough to accommodate the largest ocean liners, are included in the plan.

The speedway will have ramps leading to Fifty-ninth, Thirty-fourth, Twenty-third and Fourteenth streets, and will connect with the mouth of the new Holland vehicular tunnels under the Hudson. All cross traffic will be eliminated.

The speedway is part of a shore front improvement plan which will require expenditure of almost

COLLECTORS MEET
IN CONFERENCE

Officials of Nearly Every State in Union and Representatives of Oil Companies Here.

MISSOURI INSPECTOR
THE FIRST SPEAKER
Questions of National Significance in Administration of the Revenue Laws
To Be Discussed.

The National Conference of Gasoline Tax Administrators and Oil Inspectors opened today at Hotel Statler with representatives of almost every state in the Union and officials of a large number of oil companies in attendance to discuss gasoline taxes, oil inspection and administration methods—questions which have become of national significance in recent years because of the increase in motor traffic and adoption of ambitious road-building programs throughout the country.

The conference will last three days, the morning sessions being devoted to discussion of the various questions in an open forum and the afternoons being taken up with the work of committees. The committee reports will be heard Saturday morning.

Keynote of Conference.

The keynote of the conference was sounded in the opening address of William A. McAtee, State Inspector of Oils of Missouri. Gov. Baker was scheduled to deliver the address of welcome but was unable to be present today, being in Kansas City at the War Memorial dedication ceremonies. He will speak tomorrow, as will Gov. M. E. Trapp of Oklahoma.

Other speakers today included James Duce, State Inspector of Oils in Colorado; W. J. Armstrong, State Inspector of Oils in Oklahoma; A. J. Kraemer of the Bureau of Mines and Federal Specifications Board, Washington, D. C., and Roy Cross of the Kansas City Testing Laboratories.

McAtee said the movement culminating in the conference began last spring with meetings in groups of few states to consider questions of mutual interest—such as gasoline "bootlegging" and other troubles incident to State border traffic in gasoline. At meetings since the first, McAtee stated, the discussion had been broadened and at the present meeting he said it is hoped to obtain some uniformity in coping with the problem.

Automobile owners have willingly paid taxes which have enabled states to build hard roads, but have raised objections when a portion of their tax money has been appropriated to take care of general governmental expenses, McAtee declared.

Attitude of Auto Owner.

The automobile owner is particular about how his tax money is handled by the State, the speaker asserted. "He does not believe that the State has a right to handle it in a careless way, but that it shall be judiciously spent and that the machinery of construction and maintenance of highways shall be honestly and efficiently operated."

"So large has become the program of highway construction upon this continent that the automobile owner is contributing more than a billion dollars to it annually. More than $200,000,000 of this sum comes from the tax levied directly upon gasoline. So this is an important matter that we have come together to consider—one of vital concern to the 20 odd million motor vehicle owners of North America. Our commerce and business, our development and progress, and our health and happiness are bound up in it."

"Inspection will have its place in the discussion here as well as the tax, for we believe it has its place in state administration. The states have older laws on inspection than tax, and if imperfections exist, it is time to eliminate them."

Duane recommended formulation of a plan contemplating an agreed national specification for fuel which could be sold as gasoline. The quality of gasoline in different states now varies as much as the speaker asserted.

Traffic Ethics Discussed.

Duane said he has found gasoline pump owners who have been accused frequently of failing to give full measure, to be "true to the average of business men in honest purpose." He declared he has not seen a single "so-called gasoline improver" that will do all claimed for it, and pointed out 12 distributors of advertised lubricating oils would preserve regular standards for their products. It would be impossible for oils of inferior quality to be sold as their product, as is now done.

The State of Oklahoma has collected $61,354,488.99 on a Gross Production Tax since 1918 and the tax now is sufficient to pay all expenses of the state government, making unnecessary an ad valorem state tax for 1926-27, Armstrong said. In pointing out the importance of the oil industry in that state, We said $5,150,979.11 was collected in 1925 from the Oklahoma gasoline road tax and expressed the opinion that but few concerns have succeeded in escaping payment of the tax.

ABOUT 40,000 DELINQUENT TAX SUITS IN COUNTY

Actions include about 35,000 who failed to pay on personal levies, 5000 real estate owners.

SOME DUPLICATION IN THE TWO GROUPS

Total amount of money owed not calculated—bills in arrears cover four-year period.

There are 39,629 persons and firms assessed for taxes on personal property in St. Louis County on the Assessor's books, and about 35,000 of these are being sued for delinquent taxes. There are 27,912 real estate taxpayers, of whom about 3000 are soon to be sued for taxes.

The total amount of money owed to the county by the delinquents has not been calculated, but likely, if it could all be collected, it would be of material aid in the county's strained financial situation. However, many of the unpaid tax bills are for small individual sums—as little as a few dollars each—and all of the suits for personal taxes are in Justice of the Peace courts scattered over the county, which have jurisdiction only in cases of small amounts of money.

Some Duplication in Lists

Many persons assessed for personal property have no real estate and some persons owning real estate have no personality. There is some duplication, therefore, of the taxpayers in the two groups, and the net number is not known exactly, but possibly the county has 50,000 taxpayers. Their number is about equal to the number of registered voters or to one-third of the estimated population; more than two-thirds of them are held to be delinquent in their taxes.

It has been the custom in the county for the Collector to sue for delinquent taxes shortly before the expiration of his four-year term. Collector Rudder, a Democrat, who was defeated for re-election by Willis Benson, a Republican, will retire from office Dec. 31. Accordingly, he has arranged the suits. It was stated at his office that the number of suits was not unusual for a four-year period. Suit for back taxes must be filed within five years or the claim is outlawed.

Collector Rudder started the innovation in 1924 of filing suits for delinquent real estate taxes every two years. Hence the 5000 suits of this nature which are to be filed this year cover only 1924 and 1925 taxes. The personal tax suits cover 1922, 1923, 1924 and 1925 bills. Some suits are for all the years, while others are for only some of the years. About 15,000 of the personal tax suits have been filed already. The real estate cases will be filed in Circuit Court.

Collector Has Two Attorneys.
Clarence L. Shotwell is the Collector's attorney in real estate cases and Walter Stahlhuth in personalty cases.

It is possible for persons to be assessed and held liable for taxes without realizing it in advance. There are numerous instances of assessments being made without notice to the taxpayer, even though he makes no return.

$39,000 SETTLEMENT WITH MERCHANTS R. R. APPROVED

Public Utility Committee to Present Compromise in Ordinance Form at Meeting of Aldermen.

The $39,000 settlement in a suit for $90,000 brought by the city against the Manufacturers' Railway Co. was approved yesterday by the aldermanic Public Utilities Committee and will go before the board as a proposed ordinance.

The suit was brought on the failure of the railway company to pay the city a series of yearly fees as specified by its franchise, and its failure to build an incline to the river bank and operate a ferry to the Illinois side.

In compromise, the company pleaded that steam railroads had enjoined it from crossing their tracks for the ferry and that as a matter of fact the usefulness of such a ferry was already dimmed by the construction of the Free Bridge. The road operates a line on Second Street between Plum and Postlewait streets.

In the compromise, as approved, the railroad covenants to pay the city $3000 annually for 10 years on its franchise, $5000 for the ensuing 10 years and $7500 annually thereafter. William R. Cotter, president of the company, said steps would be taken shortly to extend the road south to Market street. The company is also negotiating tentatively for the use of the Free Bridge.

URGE MUNICIPAL CONTROL OF ALL PUBLIC UTILITIES

Speakers at Convention

Agree That State Regulation Has Failed to Protect Cities' Interest.

SERVICE-AT-COST PLAN DISCUSSED

Michigan Member Declares
That Defects of Present System Lead to Government Ownership.

Speakers at the closing session yesterday of the two-day convention of the National Municipal League were agreed that State regulation of public utilities through commissions has failed to protect satisfactorily the interest of municipalities. Some like Illinois municipalities led by Chicago were sure that the breakdown has been complete and that nothing will suffice but a return of control to the municipalities themselves.

Dr. John Bauer of New York, public utility consultant to the State of New York, would retain State commissions but create local commissions for purely local utilities.

Prof. Martin L. Glaeser of the University of Wisconsin also advised that State commissions be retained, despite their shortcomings, but that municipalities could work out their salvation through service-at-cost plans such as now is being proposed for the refranchising of the United Railways in St. Louis.

Delos F. Wilcox of Grand Rapids,
Mich., long an outstanding champion of the public against evils of public utilities, felt that consideration of all defects of present control, leads inevitably to municipal ownership and operation as the most effective measure to wipe out the difficulties that linger in the relations between the public and its street car, gas and electric companies.

Corporations Satisfied.
Francis X. Busch, corporation counsel for the city of Chicago declared that the most significant indication of the worthlessness of state commission control for the protection of the public was that no Illinois public utility had expressed dissatisfaction with it and no Illinois municipality had expressed satisfaction.

He laid failure not upon the personnel of the commission so much as upon the magnitude of its job, which, he said, could not be performed properly if the numbers of the commission and its technical staff were multiplied many times.
Commissions, he said, were required by the broad powers conferred upon them by decisions of courts of last resort, to regulate everything connected with utility operation from the temperature of street cars in every one of the 500 cities in Illinois to the complicated problems of rate structure.
Created as an administrative body to fight the battles of the public, commissions have resolved themselves into judicial tribunals, leaving the public impotent against the utilities and its convincing array of special attorneys.

Citee's Defense Decision.
Commissions, he declared, had lost all sensitiveness to local feeling until State regulation had become a form of absolute landlordism.
Created to remove the utilities from the field of political influence, he said, commissions were showing the flavor of politics in many decisions. He mentioned the Chicago 5 and 6-cent fare cases in which, he said, the commission, from an obvious political motive, fixed a fare under that which evidently showed conclusively to be the absolute cost of carrying passengers.

The temptation of dishonest men to manipulate public utility matters had not disappeared and the chance of successful manipulation had been increased by the reduction in the number of those necessary "to be seen."

He warned that utilities were entrenched and prepared to defend commissions from abolition and called upon municipalities to unit in some organization to materially shear commission powers and reclaim for themselves jurisdiction over public utilities having exclusive local activity.

Dr. Bauer emphasized the phase of municipal impotence against the expert attorneys and technical witnesses of the utilities and advised that cities band together and establish a mutual clearing house for information to which they could appeal for facts and arguments with which to combat those of the utilities. He referred to the fact that fare resolved itself into a matter of determining valuation and deplored the absence of any formula by which valuation could be established. He suggested that a formula be provided by legislative enactment.

Urge Valuation Formula.
Prof. Glaeser emphasized this phase as the chief gain to be had in service-at-cost ordinances. He would require to rebuild them at present-day prices. With a fair valuation, he said, rates then were adjusted automatically without the involvement of lengthy and indefinite hearings.

Wilcox warned that no faith could be placed in the workability of automatic rate adjustments by service-at-cost plans. "Automatic adjustments simply cannot work out," he said. Service-at-cost, he added, destroyed incentive for efficient operation by the utility owners and when the city undertook to supply that incentive, it was assuming a job more involved and more difficult than straight, cut-and-dict operation under municipal ownership.

Polk Re-elected President.
The closing luncheon session of the convention was devoted to a discussion of the city manager plan led by A. R. Hatton, member of the Cleveland City Council and author of that city's manager charter. He said the city manager plan now was established in 360 American cities so successfully that for the first time in history the Old World was sending to the United States to learn lessons in municipal government. He declared that whenever city managers had been installed, the caliber and ability of the Council or Board of Aldermen had been sharply raised and that politics had in some measure disappeared from municipal affairs.

Frank L. Polk, an assistant Secretary of State in the Wilson administration, was re-elected president of the league and a long list of vice presidents headed by Charles Evans Hughes was named.

How to Have Soft, Pretty White Skin

Many women will undoubtedly be glad to know how they may have beautiful white, soft, pretty skin regardless of their age or the wrinkles they have to do. The secret lies in rubbing a little Ice-Mint over the entire face and neck preferably just before retiring at night. In the morning you will be agreeably surprised at the pleasant transformation that has been wrought by a single application. Ice-Mint is made from a Japanese product that is simply marvelous for its beautifying qualities. It indicates exactly what kind of work a woman does she should never neglect her skin and complexion. Many women have made themselves look younger forever by these simple Ice-Mint treatments and it is predicted that wrinkles will soon be the thing of the past. A woman who will give reasonable care to her daily toilet. A few applications of Ice-Mint will add to the natural beauty of her skin and complexion. It costs little and is sold and recommended by good dealers everywhere.

MUSICAL STARS TO BROADCAST PROGRAM

Great Assemblage to Be Heard Over Radio Chain Monday Night.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Nov. 11.—The National Broadcasting Co., with a hook-up of more than 19 radio stations and a long program of musical and theatrical artists and organizations will introduce itself to the American public in a four-hour program next Monday night.

The company, a subsidiary of the Radio Corporation of America, was formed to operate station WEAF, until recently operated by the American Telephone & Telegraph Co.

Monday night's program, the announcement said, will bring together the greatest assemblage of artists which ever has appeared in one evening on the radio. They include Mary Garden, Tito Ruffo, Will Rogers, Weber and Fields, making their radio debut; the New York Symphony Orchestra with Walter Damrosch, Harold Bauer and the New York Oratorio Society with Albert Stoessel.

Most of the artists will broadcast from the grand ballroom of the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel. Mary Garden, however, will sing from her studio in Chicago. The artists from stations WEAF and WJZ in New York City will be linked with the following stations: WEEL, Boston; WBZ, Springfield, Mass.; WTAG, Worcester; WTIC, Hartford; WGB, Buffalo; WLIT, Philadelphia; WRC, Washington, D. C.; WCHS, Portland, Me.; MCAE and KDKA, Pittsburgh; WGT, Schenectady; WTAM, Cleveland; WWJ, Detroit; KSD, St. Louis Post-Dispatch; WOC, Davenport; WCCO, Minneapolis-St. Paul and WDAF, Kansas City, Mo. It is expected other stations will be added to the list.

Broadcasting will begin simultaneously at 7 o'clock, Central time, with the exception of WDAF, Kansas City, which will join the chain an hour later.

HILL ROADS MERGER DENIED

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Nov. 11.—No workable plan of consolidation for the Hill railroads of the Northwest has yet been evolved after six years of discussion and none is in prospect until the transportation act has been amended. Howard Elliott, chairman of the Northern Pacific, said in denying reports that a merger of this road with the Great Northern and Burlington actually was under way.

Elliott's statement was prompted by the assertion of Arthur Curtis Jones, the country's largest individual holder of railroad stocks, that the three systems eventually would be united, leading to the belief in some quarters that plans for the merger were nearing completion.

of your Bony Figure?

How to Easily and Quickly Build Your Weight and Have a Beautifully Rounded Out, Plump Form and Attractive Figure.

By H. W. RUSSELL

I once asked a scientist what to do to put some meat on my bones, and he replied, "Use your mechanics—food makes blood, blood makes flesh." "But," he continued, "the blood stream must be pure and you must digest and eliminate properly or the food you eat, instead of helping, will prove harmful, because undigested food is poison to the system."

So, the problem then was to find something to make me eat, aid my digestion and elimination and strengthen my blood—and I kept hunting until I found it. It is a preparation compounded by a Virginia chemist, and known as Blud-Life.

Here, in one formula, you get the ingredient which excites the appetite and makes you eat, then other ingredients which aid digestion and elimination and still others that enrich the blood stream—making what I consider the greatest combination ever formulated for building weight, giving one, all-round better health and an abundance of energy.

I know that Blud-Life will put good, sound, firm flesh on "skinny bones," and I know it so well that I am personally willing to guarantee it. Blud-Life may be had at any drug store for $1.25 per bottle, but if not, it will be sent direct, postpaid, upon receipt of price, by addressing H. W. Russell, 401 Walton Building, Atlanta, Ga. Write to me anyway if you are underweight or in bad health. I have written a little booklet on this preparation, entitled "Where Is That Slender Thread of Life Located?" which I would like to send you free of charge.

TOMORROW NIGHT

Marie of Rumania Will See

JAPANESE ENVOY OCCUPIES A BOX

Present Last Night With Chancellor and Mrs. Hadley—Mrs. Loula Long Combs' Entries Win.

The St. Louis Horse Show is developing that degree of graceful smoothness known as the Queen's taste. All the horses last night were on their good behavior. And that is well, for tomorrow evening they will have a chance to look at a Queen. Her Majesty, Marie of Rumania, is scheduled for a visit, and the management is pointing the show toward a glowing climax for the event.

Under the official plans for Queen Marie's reception, announced today, she will leave Hotel Chase at 9:45 o'clock, after the banquet in her honor, and will proceed with her party and the welcoming delegation via Lindell boulevard and Washington avenue to the Coliseum.

There she will find a canopy over the sidewalk at the Washington avenue entrance with red plush carpet laid to the royal box on the east side of the arena.

15 Boxes for Queen's Party.

Fifteen boxes have been set aside for the Queen and her party. These will be decorated with Rumanian flags and are to be sumptuously furnished. The Horse Show Committee, headed by W. Frank Carter, will escort Her Majesty into the arena, while the band plays the Rumanian national anthem.

Two of the prime events of the show are set for 10 o'clock and 10:30—the five-gaited saddle championship and the harness horse championship, with ladies to drive. Queen Marie is said to be an ardent horsewoman, and the country's best will parade before her tomorrow night. She will leave the show at 10:45 o'clock for her quarters at the Coronado Hotel.

Miss Martha Love, the Veiled Prophet Queen of 1928, is to sit in the royal box, and other St. Louisans will be ranged with members of the Queen's entourage in the other boxes.

Last night's show, more largely attended than the first two, occasioned numerous interesting contests. Mrs. Loula Long Combs of Kansas City was again a notable point winner, taking the heavy harness horse championship with Ovation and the harness pony event with Fashion. The O. W. Lehmann stable of Chicago turned out the finest four-in-hand outfit and Reville, Lehmann huntress, won the $1500 stake for hunters.

Japanese Envoy Present.
The Japanese Ambassador Tepono Matsudaira was guest of honor, occupying a box with Chancellor and Mrs. Herbert Hadley of Washington University. Mr. and Mrs. William K. Birky, Mrs. Harry B. Wallace and Mrs. J. L. Berger Davis. The night had been designated "military night" and Col. Moor N. Falls of Jefferson Parades and Lieut. Col. John N. Paeglow of Scott Field with parties attended.

There is an Armistice Day matinee this afternoon. The show closes with Saturday night's performance.

PAPAL ANNULMENT OF FIRST WEDDING SOUGHT BY DUKE

Marlborough, Who Was Divorced by Consuelo Vanderbilt, Said to Desire to Become Catholic.

By the Associated Press.
LONDON, Nov. 11.—It is reported that the Duke of Marlborough is seeking to have his marriage with the former Consuelo Vanderbilt of New York nullified by Pope Pius.

The Westminster Gazette says that it understands the Duke, whose present wife was the former Gladys Marie Deacon, daughter of Edward Parker Deacon of Boston, desires to embrace the Roman Catholic faith.

Charles Richards John Spencer Churchill, ninth Duke of Marlborough, in 1895 married the daughter of the late William K. Vanderbilt. The couple lived together for 12 years. Then there was a disagreement and the Duchess sued for divorce on grounds of desertion and misconduct. The Duke did not contest the suit and the divorce was granted.

Two sons were born of the union—the Marquis of Blandford and Lord Ivor Spencer-Churchill. The Duchess is now married to Jacques Balsan, a Frenchman.

The Duke married Miss Deacon in Paris in 1921. A Presbyterian minister officiated. He read the Church of England service, but left out the word "obey."

An unidentified Roman Catholic authority, whom the Westminster Gazette says is in possession of the details, asserts that the Catholic church does not want the Duke "unless there is really just cause." This authority is said to have added that before the Duke can be received by the church the stain of his divorce will have to be wiped out and he will have to undergo a period of preparation. Later, his present marriage could be regularized by a priest.

The Duke for some time has attended the Roman Catholic Church of St. Aloysius at Oxford. The Roman Catholic authority is said to have declared that "nothing more can be done for a Duke than for a tramp," so far as the church is concerned.

Row With Bishop.

The Duke had a conflict with the Oxford diocese of the Church of England. In 1922 the Bishop of Oxford wrote the Duke requesting him not to attend the Oxford diocesan conference. The Bishop informed the Duke that he could not admit that the nobleman had the status of a communicant, as the law of the church made it clear that it did not recognize a divorce.

The Divorce Law Reform Union, however, took the attitude that the church had no right to override the laws of the country. It contended that Marlborough had been legally remarried, as the law of the church declared that he had contracted an illegitimate union. Marlborough, taking issue with the Bishop, asserted that in remarrying he had the sanction of his parish priests in Oxfordshire and London, with the full knowledge of the "proper ecclesiastical authorities."

$5000 VERDICT AGAINST MISSOURI PACIFIC CO.

Dependents of Locomotive Engineer, Killed in Sulphur Springs Wreck, Sued for $25,000. A verdict for $5000 against the Missouri Pacific Railroad was returned by a jury in Circuit Judge Killoran's Court yesterday in the death of Matthew Glenn, locomotive engineer, who was killed in the wreck at Sulphur Springs, Mo., Aug. 5, 1922, when 37 persons lost their lives and 100 were injured. His brother and sister, Mark and Mary Glenn, of 1711 Iowa avenue, sued for $25,000 as dependents.

Railroad attorneys claimed the company was not liable in Glenn's death, maintaining that he was responsible for the accident, in that he disregarded danger signals. Counsel for the Glenns maintained that he was obeying orders with signals set to go ahead, when his train, No. 32, crashed into the rear of No. 4, both northbound.

ST. LOUIS POST-DISPATCH

INSURGENTS SEEK EXTRA SESSION TO REVISE TAX LAWS

Coolidge's Proposal for Refund on Next Year's Income Levy Gives Opening.

HIS FOES EAGER TO HARASS HIM
General Overhauling of Revenue Acts May Result—Problems Raised by Rebate Plans.

BY DAVID LAWRENCE,
A Special Washington Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.
(Copyright, 1926.)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11.—Inquiries are beginning to come in from all parts of the country as to how the two plans proposed for a rebate or credit to the taxpayer will affect those corporations and individuals that made money in 1925 but were not as fortunate in the year 1926.

In other words if a man paid an income tax of $5000 in 1925 and met with financial reverses so that in March, 1927, he had no income tax to pay, the credit of 10 or 12 per cent which it is proposed be given him would be a credit against zero. Under President Coolidge's plan to refund cash, the taxpayer in question would get back ten or more which would be an actual rebate.

This illustrates only one of a great number of difficulties arising in connection with the announcement of the administration's decision to return in some way $250,000,000 of tax receipts.

Although the surplus has been actually used to pay off part of the public debt, it had been suggested that the Government could make rebates out of current Treasury receipts which would mean, of course, an increased borrowing in the regular quarterly financing operations of the Treasury.

Whole Law Affected.

It is beginning to look more and more as if the rebate plan injected at this time will compel a reopening of the whole tax problem. The meeting just held here of corporation executives asked that the additional tax recently leveled at corporations be repealed at once. This means that other interests equally anxious for relief will want changes made at the short session of Congress. It will be difficult to resist the pressure for a revision of the whole revenue law in so far as essential rates are concerned.

Up to now the administration has felt that little could be done at the short session because it expires automatically March 4, but 1927 is not an election year and members of Congress would have no objection to staying on through April or May. Indeed, the insurgents already are talking of forcing the President to call an extra session or to state publicly that he will do so, otherwise there will be filibusters on important appropriation bills. These tactics were used effectively on President Wilson on one occasion and he yielded to the pressure for an extra session.

Extra Session Argument.
From a political viewpoint, the Democrats will join with the insurgents in forcing an extra session because the Republican majority will be so slender that it would be possible to shoot arrows at the administration in preparation for the 1928 presidential campaign.

Until Mr. Coolidge announced his plan for a tax rebate there was no issue on which an extra session could be forced. There will hardly be an excuse either if Congress should speed its work and revise the tax law in January and February. The necessity for speed will probably not appeal to those who want to force an extra session.

So far as justification is concerned, the insurgents will insist that they want to give the taxpayers permanent relief instead of temporary aid and the whole thing lends itself so easily to political manipulation that it is not at all unlikely that the administration may be compelled to yield to the clamor for an extra session as well as the pressure for revision of many important sections of the revenue law.

EMERGENCY AIR MAIL LANDING FIELD ESTABLISHED AT ALTON
Feature of It Will Be 1250 Candlepower Beacon for Night Flying.

Alton will have a place on the Government air mail map as the result of the establishment of an emergency landing field on the William Waters farms, six miles north of the city. The field will be one of nine emergency landings between St. Louis and Chicago, and the first north of Lambert-St. Louis Field.

A feature of the landing field will be a 1250 candlepower beacon light for night flying. The beacon will be No. 3 on the route. No. 2 beacon light was established some time ago at La Vista, the country home of Charles Lewis, above Alton, on the bluffs. There are 24 beacon lights between Alton and Chicago, and nine landing fields.

FOUR CENTS FOR LITTLE FELLOW IN TAX REFUND PLAN

Basil Manly, Analyzing President's Plan, Figures Treasury Would Spend 20 Cents to Make Rebate

$10,000,000 WORTH OF TIME IN DEBATE

He Also Tells Democrats There Is No Time for Tax Revision in Short Session.

Post-Dispatch Bureau, 20-22 Wyatt Building, WASHINGTON, Nov. 11.—A trenchant statement issued by Basil M. Manly, director of the People's Legislative Service, a research organization which supplies ammunition to progressive Senators of both parties, accuses President Coolidge of trying to "play peanut politics" with Federal taxation.

The statement indicates the line of attack to be followed by the progressives in opposing the presidential call for a rebate on the taxes being paid this year.

"It would cost the Federal Government about as much to make the 10 per cent rebate proposed by President Coolidge on the morning after the big flop in Massachusetts as the taxpayers would get out of it," says the statement.

In 1924, the latest year for which we have complete statistics, there were $44,876 taxpayers with taxable incomes under $1,000 who paid an average tax of 42 cents each. Under the Coolidge scheme, they would get a refund of only 4 cents each. With Government efficiency it would cost the Treasury at least 20 cents apiece to look up returns, calculate the refunds, make out the checks, and mail them to the taxpayers. The only thing for the taxpayers to do with their 4 cent checks would be to frame them as a memorial to Government stupidity.

20 Cents to Refund 4.

There were 4,871,750 taxpayers with incomes under $3,000 who paid an average tax of $4.27. They would get checks for 42 cents at a cost to the Treasury of about 20 cents. On receipt, they would all rise and give three rousing cheers for Coolidge economy.

"In the meantime Congress would spend $10,000,000 worth of time deciding whether the refund should be made.

"Secretary Mellon's scheme of rebating on next year's taxes is just as absurd, as far as the American people are concerned. The only ones who would get anything but 'chicken feed' out of it are a few millionaires and big corporations that have made so much money during 1926 that even they would hardly notice the difference.

Furthermore, Secretary Mellon's reproduction of his sound doctrine that "The time to pay debts is when you have the money" shows how far his unfortunate adventure in Pennsylvania politics has clouded his financial judgment.

Advice to Democrats. "The Democrats ought to know that there is no time for sound tax revision in the short session and that if they try playing 'three card monte' in this Congress, with Madden and Smoot dealing the cards, they are sure to guess wrong."

"If the Democrats have a sound scheme for getting rid of the absurd corporation taxes, automobile sales taxes and other taxes that are simply passed on to the long suffering consumer, let them force an extra session of the new Congress, in which they will have some real power, and show their stuff."

NEGRO GETS FIVE YEARS

IN PRISON FOR ROBBERY
Changed Plea of Not Guilty After State's Evidence Had Been Heard.

Sylvester Lewis, 31 years old, a Negro, 1624 Singleton street, was sentenced to five years in the penitentiary by Judge Hogan yesterday on a plea of guilty to a robbery charge, changed from a plea of not guilty after the State's evidence had been heard.

Lewis was charged with holding up Theodore Shulhof, 4302 A Maryland avenue, at Jefferson avenue and Eugenia street the night of March 19, taking from him $8 and an umbrella. The umbrella was found by police at 2343 Eugenia street, a known hangout of Lewis, who was therupon arrested as a suspect. He was later identified by Shulhof as the robber.

YOUNG BRIDE KILLED BY BLAST
Child Throws Powder Into Fire to See It Flash.

By the Associated Press.

PINEVILLE, Ky., Nov. 11.—A 17-year-old bride of less than two weeks is dead and three other persons are suffering serious injuries in the Caroline mine section, near here, as a result of a child's desire to see powder flash.

Mrs. Charlie Gambel died from burns. Charlie Gambel, her husband, is in a serious condition, as is the child of a neighbor, named Siemone, and a child named Collette, was suffering severe burns. The accident occurred when the Siemone child, visiting at Nathan, Collette's. Mrs. Gambel's father, threw a bag of powder into an open fire to see it flash. The flash of the powder carried to a keg of powder nearby, which exploded.

Why Business Failed.
It looked like a good thing," Hedges testified. "The New Mexico company paid the Indians through the Government for every thousand ties cut and the Southern Pacific paid the Sacramento company for every thousand ties delivered, but the trouble was the timber was up in the mountains 27 miles from a railroad and during five months of the year it is impossible to get ties out due to the weather. Hines spent all his money establishing mills and camps and then could not fulfill the railroad contract at a profit. When we saw how things were going Griffith (George C. Griffith, a business associate of Hedges) and myself put the Sacramento company into bankruptcy before it got in any deeper."

Hedges made the first loan, $10,615, in December, 1925, at which time he received one share of stock in the Sacramento company, and was made president of the concern, although Hines was the active manager. In March this year Hedges lent the company $30,835, and last September $3843. Griffith lent similar sums at the same times and received a share of stock, but did not become an officer of the company. The loans were on notes bearing 8 per cent interest indorsed by Hines and the Sacramento company, and secured by chattel mortgages on the property of the New Mexico company in Otero County, N. M.

Share of Profits Pledged.

In addition to the interest on the loans, Griffith and Hedges were to receive a share in the profits of the Sacramento company under a contract with Hines, Hedges testified.

"I thought there was some reason for the hard-headed businessmen letting go of $70,000 other than 8 per cent interest," Referee Coles remarked.

In explanation of his reasons for "kissing" the $35,000 good-by, Hedges pointed out that the chief asset of the company was the tie contract which he declared could not be fulfilled at a profit under present conditions. Asked, as a principal creditor, what he thought should be done, he responded, "Sell off the physical assets which won't bring much. I know of no one willing to finance the contract, so it is useless to try to operate the concern out of its difficulties."

The New Mexico company is also in bankruptcy and probably will be sold by the receiver, although Hines is said to be attempting to refinance both organizations.

FRENCH TAX RULING AFFECTS AMERICANS RESIDING THERE

New Order Requires Listing of All Property Owned by Them in
U. S. as Well as Abroad.

By the Associated Press.

PARIS, Nov. 11.—American residents in Paris are in somewhat of a flutter over the prospect of having to declare and pay income tax on all their property, not only in France, but in the United States.

The Minister of Finance had codified all the legislation on the subject of the taxation of foreigners and the Government issued a decree clearly defining their obligations.

The managers of the Paris branches of American banks are subject to taxes as also representatives of great companies such as agricultural machinery, radiators, electricity, petroleum and lubricating oils.

Many Americans of great wealth have houses or chateaux in France. Mrs. W. K. Vanderbilt, James Hazen Hyde, Eugene Higgins, George Blumenthal, former Ambassador Wallace, Frederick Allen, Ogden Mills, Ralph Strassburger, Edward Tuck, A. Kingsley Macomber, are some of the most prominent.

Besides the owners of houses, all Americans having apartments in France also come under the new law. It is estimated that there are 3000 residents from America affected by the ruling.

$2000 JEWELRY HOLDUP IN EAST ST. LOUIS OFFICE

Three Armed Robbers Enter As E. Fred Gerold Prepares to Close; Took $40 Cash.

Three armed robbers held up E. Fred Gerold, Republican politician and president of the Gerold Storage, Packing and Moving Co., in his office at 500 Missouri avenue, East St. Louis, at 8:15 o'clock last night, and escaped with jewelry valued at $2000 and $40 in currency.

Gerold was preparing to close his office when the men entered with drawn revolvers and ordered him to "put 'em up." One of the robbers took a diamond stud, valued at $1500, from Gerold's necktie, removed a diamond ring, valued at $200, from his finger and then took his pocketbook.

When they left the store the men locked the front door from the outside with a padlock which they carried with them. They ran to an automobile parked a short distance away, on Fifth street, and escaped.

On descriptions furnished by Gerold and a woman residing at 424A Missouri avenue, who overheard a conversation between the robbers before they entered Gerold's store and then saw them flee, search is being made for two well-known gangsters.

COOLIDGE REFUND IDEA STRIKES REED AS A GREAT JOKE

In Point of Fact, Says Senator, President Forced Congress to Levy $250,000 Too Much.

SO HE NOW TAKES BENEFACTOR POSE

"All Talk About Wonderful Economies of the Administration Is Simply So Much Bunk."

Senator James A. Reed, in St. Louis for a consultation with the Democratic State Committee yesterday expressed to a Post-Dispatch reporter at Hotel Jefferson his views on the lately announced plan of President Coolidge for a refund to income taxpayers.

"One of the greatest jokes of the season," Senator Reed said, "is the propaganda that Mr. Coolidge is going to reduce taxes, and that he is about to make a present to income taxpayers of 10 to 12 percent of their 1926 payments, as money which he has saved for them."

The facts are that on the insistence of Mr. Mellon, backed by the President, Congress was literally dragged into making a levy much greater than was justified.

$250,000,000 Too Much.

"Under that levy, the taxpayers were compelled to pay to the Federal Government an amount which it is now admitted was $250,000,000 more than they should have been compelled to pay. It is now proposed, as a special act of Congress, that this money, which was necessarily and wrongfully exacted from the American people, shall be returned, and the proposal made as to give the impression that we owe this great benefit to Mr. Coolidge and his Secretary of the Treasury."

"Instead of commendation for the return of the money there ought to be nothing but disgrace with an administration that took the taxpayers $250,000,000 more than the Government did not need."

"All the talk about the wonder economy being practiced by Coolidge administration is simply so much bunk. In the last articles sent out from Washington it has been stated that these savings were the result of the budget system. Two facts which are indisputable, however, and that is that the budget system is not a success and that the budget is not a success."

Says Budget Proved Costly.

"First of all, Congress actually apportioned less money in the aggregate than was recommended by the budget Commission. The inevitable conclusion is that if the budget system had never existed and Coolidge had been allowed to follow his own judgment, less would have been appropriated than the budget management recommended."

Second, the Senate, by numerous amendments reduced the tax rates which were recommended by Mr. Mellon and backed up by Mr. Coolidge. This proceeded to such an extent that objectors declared it would be an actual deficit in the Treasury. Never before, against strenuous opposition, such large reductions were made having been made the taxes still kept so high because of insistence of the Secretary of Treasury, that the surplus of $250,000,000 has been created.

Another amusing incident is the spokesman for the White House, who is the President himself, gave out a statement that the taxes were to be reduced by $250,000,000 on the tax of next year to persons paying taxes. At this point, the Manufacturers Association and various other associations of corporations, raised the question that they did not want the money distributed to the taxpayers held in the Treasury, so that the corporation tax could be greatly reduced next year.

Corporations Want Money.

That is, the $250,000,000 have been wrongfully extorted from people, the corporations want money to be employed to reduce the taxes next year. This is the organized lobby.

He and the organized lobby has issued a statement from the White House, through the spokesman for the President, that is the President himself, that he is about to enter in a great battle to reduce taxes; that he demands funds how they ought to be reduced or whether there should be a vote to the people who paid the money. Nevertheless, he is using an imaginary battle for people and he calls on all good people regardless of party to back him in his valiant struggle.

The cold truth is that when corporations come up to make demand, Mr. Coolidge's feet do not exactly what to do, except his instinct as a politician.

COOLIDGE REFUND DEA STRIKES REED AS A GREAT JOKE

Point of Fact, Says Sen-

BENEFICATOR POSE

"All Talk About Wonderful

SENATOR JAMES A. REED, in St. Louis for a consultation with the Democratic State Committee yesterday expressed, to a Post-Dispatch reporter at Hotel Jefferson his views on the lately announced plan of President Coolidge for a refund to income taxpayers.

"One of the greatest jokes of the season," Senator Reed said. "Mr. Coolidge is going to reduce taxes, and that he wants to make a present to income taxpayers of 10 to 12 percent of their 1926 payments, as money which he has saved for them."

"The facts are that on the insistence of Mr. Mellon, backed by the President, Congress was literally dragged into making a levy much greater than was justifiable. $250,000,000 Too Much."

"Under this tax, the taxpayers were compelled to pay to the Federal Government an amount which is now admitted was $250,000,000 more than they should have been compelled to pay. It was proposed, as a special act of grace, that this money, which was severely and wrongfully exacted from the American people be returned; and the proposal was made as to give the impression that we owe this great benefit to Mr. Coolidge and his Secretary of the Treasury instead of commendation for the return of the money there ought to be nothing but disgust!"

"It was a sympathetic, orderly and well-dressed audience which a convict leads. I can say without qualification that it is the most gloomy and appalling form of tragedy which I have ever witnessed. This is truly the best of prisons. Life in the worst of them is one stark and sustained horror. The marvel is that human fortitude is equal to it for any long period of years."

WHAT makes prison life so dreadful is somewhat difficult to describe. Modern prisons are sanitary, the food is palatable and sufficient, and the cells are not uncomfortable. But the awfulness of the experience remains obvious. The punishment is more mental than physical. It might be expressed by saying that when a man enters a prison he ceases to be a human being. There is little enough of humanity on the outside, but once inside it all disappears.

He must not speak to his fellow prisoners save at stated intervals, and even the tone of his voice is rigidly prescribed for him. He must not speak to prison officials without permission. When he walks up the prison road attended by a guard, the guard walks on the sidewalk a little behind and the prisoner walks in the middle of the road, keeping his face to the front.

SAYS Budget Proved Costly. First that Congress actually appropriated less money in the aggregate than was recommended by the Budget Commission. The inevitability is that if the budget system had never existed and Congress had been allowed to follow its own judgment, less would have been appropriated than the budget recommended.

I know that my retirement will make no difference in its cardinal principles, that it will always fight for progress or reform, never tolerate injustice or corruption, always fight demagogues of all varieties, never belong to any party, always oppose privileged classes and public plunder, never lack sympathy with the poor, always remain devoted to the public welfare, never be satisfied with merely printing news; always be drastically independent; never be afraid to attack wrong, whether by predatory plutocracy or predatory poverty.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE

Let Us Have Two Champions.
To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

A PROPOS your editorial of Nov. 4. "The Wet Revolt," and in a spirit of good will to all, why not try to ascertain the facts that are manifest, and from that point undertake some program of solution.

First We now know that the next Congress is not even going to submit to the states a resolution to repeal the eighteenth amendment. You could not get a majority, much less two-thirds, set in favor of it.

Second: If such a resolution could be submitted, the possibility of repeal by 35 states is not in sight to the most optimistic anti-prohibitionist. What then, are the alternatives presented? Either that we must have progressively better enforcement or a final scuttling of the fundamental law on which the Government rests. As the last alternative is one that no right-minded man or woman can accede to, we are confronted with the grave problem of enforcement, and what can be devised to effect that end. As men and measures must be combined to accomplish this purpose, we must begin with the men—men to secure the necessary legislation, and the men who will courageous administer it.

What would the Democratic party of Missouri say to a proposal to nominate for Governor in the next State primaries Henry Priest and Charles M. Hay, respectively? These names are mentioned because no other names would be thought of the instant we set out to pick the men who would embody the vital issue which we know is irrepressible.

We would have a campaign equal to the Lincoln-Douglas contest. There would be something to decide, something to talk about, and somebody to talk about it. There would be no pussy-footing, no side-stepping to nauseate and drive the people away from the polls, and the joint debate all over the State, conducted along the highest lines, would be a clash between two intellects whose courage and spontaneity are equal to their ability. Each would know that nowhere in the United States could it find an able champion. The very prospect of such a contest would impel the people to study the question almost solemnly, to carefully reserve their judgment to stabilize and discipline the public thought. The result would be the most clarifying decision ever rendered by the state of Missouri.

Proceed Against Judge English.
To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

IN these days of universal skepticism in the integrity of our courts, can the Senate ignore the derelictions of a man like ex-Judge English? If it does, it shall only serve as one more example of favoritism.

Judge English is not an ignorant bootlegger nor a petty thief; he is a man read in the laws of his country and under solemn oath to administer them in just and fearless manner. He was investigated by a competent body of our representative men and ordered to stand trial before the high tribunal charged with that duty. He tentatively admitted his guilt when he resigned under fire; his resignation was accepted by the highest officer of the land; presumably, after reading and understanding all the evidence against the defendant. Why, then, should he escape the merited punishment that is given to every other law breaker?

All things considered, a large portion of your readers will be utterly disappointed and consider any cessation of proceedings against Judge English another miscarriage of justice!

Mining Under Lakes or Swamps.

A N editorial, "Mine Flooded With Mud," in a St. Louis newspaper intimated that a blunder or at least a lack of technical knowledge was responsible for the disaster. Permit me to say that as a mining engineer with underground experience, I am loath to affix blame hastily to what is nearly impossible to prevent. Doubtless proper precautions had been taken in that Michigan mine. Every miner understands the perils of going under an old lake or swamp, and accepts the risk of such stuff as miners are made.

As a matter of fact the tunneling of our Mill Creek was done in St. Louis went under iron. One day, I think it was, and missed a similar disaster by chance of sandbags, fast work and good fortune. Nothing was thought about it. I was also on the 800-foot level in a mine in South America when a few thousand tons of old Spanish fillings and lake water slipped into a shaft. I can't say that anyone was to blame. It is only part of the game.

However, to connect any mining school with the disaster is unfair, and for St. Louis newspaper to intimate the charge brings to mind unfavorably the Missouri School of Mines in Rolla, probably the best mining school in the United States. As a matter of fact, even if the disaster is to be attributed to lack of technical knowledge and even if a mining school is to be included in the responsibility, the disaster has taken place in Michigan in a field not covered by Rolla Miners.

CONQUEST BY EDICT.

The story of the first Philippine conquest is written in blood and in brutal torture; the story of the second conquest, now in process of consummation, is being written in the executive edicts of Governor-General Wood. As rapidly as the Governor-General and the Washington administration dare, the Philippines are being reduced to the servile condition of an imperial satrapy.

Wood's latest order was issued immediately upon the adjournment of the Legislature, whose duly passed laws it throws into the scrapheap. Just before adjournment the Legislature appointed a committee of three leading Filipinos to proceed to Washington and fight for the rights of the natives. That appointment represents the Filipinos' desire for independence. Never has that desire burned more brightly in the islands or commanded such universal support as it does today, including the leaders of both Filipino political parties and every last member of the Legislature.

Nevertheless, while the Filipinos are demanding that we redeem the fair promise of the Jones law, the United States tightens its grip. Even the pretense that our interest in the Philippines is simply that of a benevolent paternalism designed to teach the natives the arts of self-government has been dropped, just as the gentle hand of Francis Burton Harrison has been replaced by the mailed fist of Leonard Wood.

It is now generally understood on both sides of the water that the United States wants the Philippines for commercial exploitation. Rubber, sisal, coconuts, sugar—but mostly rubber. There is nothing inherently evil in that except that it stands in the way of fulfilling our honorable word, duly given, not once but many times, that the Philippines would be given their independence as soon as they showed themselves fit for it. In his last message, President Wilson told Congress that "it is now our liberty and our duty to keep our promise to the people of those islands, by granting them the independence which they so honorably covet."

Then came Harding, the Wood-Forbes report, the appointment of Wood as Governor-General, and the policy of reversal which has been continued under Coolidge and is now accentuated by Wood's latest order. That order, you may be sure, was not made by Wood alone, with only the ratification of the War Department and the Attorney-General. It has the approbation of the Republican administration, and it follows Mr. Coolidge's expressed wish that the position of the Governor-General be made stronger.

Such is imperialism—broken promises, flouted rights.

It is charged that liquor has got into the Federal prison at Leavenworth, which bears out Jay E. House, former Mayor of Topeka, who says that you have to get out of Kansas to get away from it.

THE OHIO GANG IN FICTION.

We now have the Ohio Gang in fiction. Samuel Hopkins Adams has done it in a book entitled "Revelry," which was reviewed yesterday in the Post-Dispatch. The wastrels that swarmed on Washington in the wake of Harding are put through their paces, under thickly disguised names that do not conceal their identity, in scenes of carousal and corruption which exposure has made familiar.

Notwithstanding the canon to the contrary, novelists have played the part of missionaries while still maintaining their art. Dickens in "Bleak House," for example, raked the practice of law with a withering fire of ridicule that placed the legal profession in a stammering defensive and paved the way for the reform which liberated Justice in England. Cervantes laughed knight-errant, forever out of court in the story of the immortal Don.

Mr. Adams is not a novelist of the first flight, but he is a propagandist of parts. If he has paraded the Ohio Gang in fiction in a way to arouse public sentiment as the newspapers were unable to do by presenting the Ohio Gang in fact he will have served his country well.

To simplify legal procedure: "Edward L. Doheny Jr., you are charged with bribery and—so's your old man."

TOO MANY BROADCASTING STATIONS.

The number of radio broadcasting stations steadily increase. Due to the insistent demands of various commercial interests the Department of Commerce is constantly adding to an already bad situation by issuing new broadcasting licenses until the number of operating stations soon promises to reach the thousand mark. Congress is largely to blame for this situation by its failure to enact a definite and comprehensive radio law.

The Post-Dispatch, in a previous editorial, has suggested the importance of early congressional action on this subject and has outlined some of the vital things which should be included in a radio legislative act.

From a practical standpoint, what an absurdity it is even to contemplate a thousand broadcasting stations in the United States, when there are only 89 bands or channels in the whole broadcasting range which can be allocated to them. This means an average of 11 stations working on the same wave length. Either each group of 11 must divide the program time, which would represent some 30 minutes a day for each station, or they must be situated geographically far enough apart so as not to interfere with one another.

The present refinement in receiving sets makes it possible for the listener to hear 500-watt stations from coast to coast; therefore, it is not really possible to space stations working simultaneously on the same wave length without getting more or less interference. Another form of interference suffered by the listeners-in is the superpower station which literally drowns out all the low-power stations unless they happen to be local.

That the radio game is a nation-wide and popular diversion is proven by the billion dollars a year being spent for new equipment. It certainly will not continue to grow in popularity unless the present policy of licensing an unlimited number of mutually interfering stations is changed and a law passed providing definite rules and regulations.

A 76-year-old resident of Berlin is the father of 84 living children. The late war may not have been the last, but Marx must be pretty well discouraged.

JUDGE ENGLISH'S SUCCESSOR.

Mr. Roosevelt was reported to have said that the greatest mistake of his official career was a bad appointment to the Federal bench.

In the consideration of a successor to Judge English in the Eastern District of Illinois it would be a good idea to recall what the consequences of a bad appointment in the district have been. The Federal judiciary is so securely safeguarded against political reprisals that when it betrays its trust the people have only the recourse of impeachment. The United States Supreme Court has recently ruled that the President can remove his own appointees, but he cannot remove the man he places upon the Federal bench. They are there for life, unless impeached by Congress, and the country has just been given an opportunity to learn what a Herculean labor that is.

The English case took time and money. It took five busy Congressmen away from Washington to spend weeks in the district examining the evidence. It occupied for days the attention of the busy House Judiciary Committee. It precipitated upon the floor of the House of Representatives a two-day debate participated in by Congressmen from every part of the Union. It at last invoked a special session of the Senate. When Judge English resigned he had already had three trials and was upon the point of a fourth.

All of which could have been avoided at the outset by making a good appointment instead of a bad one.

HAMIL GARLAND'S ROSY RETROSPECTION.

A fine brave tale of pioneering—a true tale, doubtless, in the main—is Hamlin Garland's new volume, "Trail-Makers of the Middle Border." In it are set those "short and simple annals of the poor" that are so much a part of the story of winning the wilderness. With two others from the same pen, it presents a cross-section of the settlement of the Middle West; rather intimate history than biography or fiction. There is a place for it in any library where readers can sense the epic of the central valleys.

Yet, when the author longs for a return of the simple life and spirit of that time, not many will join him in the wish. All will grant the beauty of a "forest primeval," the grandeur of unbroken reaches of fertile prairie. Nor will many doubt that there was vision among the pioneers; a conviction of development to come, ere they saw it unfold. Something of contentment was theirs, as well, who had come from the sterile hill country of New York and New England into a richer realm.

Still, part of that contentment was based on ignorance. They had known nothing better. Actually they led lives of drudgery that would seem serfdom or slavery now. Their implements were crude. Their homes were bare and often insanitary. Luxuries were few, as were conveniences. Land, indeed, was abundant, but poverty still was the common lot.

The land thus settled certainly is not contented now. The people who till it have many grievances, real or fancied. Yet among them are not many who would care to turn back to that earlier era. Hamlin Garland is among our earlier realists. He saw the sordid hopelessness of other farms in later days, and shocked a nation with his views. But his backward glance, while faithful in detail as such writing may be, sees rather more than was there. Either that, or he makes too much of modern discontent, for that, too, savors somewhat of pioneering; a search for something better, a search that will not end; not even after all wilderness is conquered and all deserts reclaimed.

Seven of Mr. Coolidge's confidants in the Senate dined with him on Tuesday. They probably had lame duck for dinner.

GOVERNMENT AT BRENTWOOD.

One of the effective points against annexation was that the county communities wished to preserve their local governments. It was represented that they are proud of these governments, and sometimes it was claimed for them that they are better than our city government.

Very well. A few nights ago the Board of Trustees—that is the local government of Brentwood—met. The Corporation Counsel demanded that the Trustees discharge Deputy Constable William Skow, who shoots speeders on the county roads and has to his credit one university student in hospital with a dangerous bullet wound in the lung.

That was a great chance for the local government of Brentwood to make good the claims made for such government in the campaign. It failed to rise to the occasion, and refused to discharge the gunman. It stood by outlawry and stamped the outlaw with its official approval. Thereupon the Town Counsel resigned.

We are a little mystified by it all. Is this the kind of local government the county had in mind when it refused to come into the city? Is this what it wanted to preserve? Is this the local autonomy of which it is proud? Is this better than city government?

Mussolini has apologized to France because two Frenchmen were beaten up by Fascists, so the number of big fellows he has hit is unchanged at none.

ARMISTICE DAY.

They have died for a dream, for a dream that was vain, But they died with the light of the dream in their eyes:

May the soil that enfolds them rest light on the slain,

Who have given their lives for the peace that you prize;

Do you think that the dead, at their ghostly retreat,

Are aware of the hatreds you seek to instill?

With what puzzlement, strange looks all the war dead must meet,

That they should have been friends, but were sent forth to kill!

They were sent forth to kill in the joy of their youth,

They were sent forth to slay, and if need be, to die;

They reverted once more to the claw and the tooth,

They have answered the roll call, and cannot ask why;

You have insulted o'er their crosses your craving for peace,

You have pointed with scorn at the figure of Cain,

But you cannot have peace till your cannon shall cease,

And you stop not your ears to the cries of the slain.

For the lust of your greed they were fated to die,

But they know not your catch words across the Divide;

When the dead went to battle, they always knew why

And they heard the same reasons from those that had died;

Have your toast to the dead who were winnowed as wheat,

Drawn your cup, as you stand, to the last of the slain;

Once across the gray border as friends they will meet,

They have taught us a lesson—a lesson in vain.

Defending the Anti-Trust Law.

Dear Sir: Down along close to Salt River, where it is hard to tell whether one is on the Pike County or the Russell County side of the line, they put up signs like this when they get to thinking of mergers and big business, and all the evils thereof. We found this one along the road that goes from Frankford from the north:

KEEP OUT
NO TRUST PASSING

—L. H. BANKS.

WOULD YOU CALL IT A THREAT OR A PROMISE?

Sir: The funny column should note that it is said Williams promised to help Hyde in 1928 in return for Hyde's help this time. Will he help Hyde as Hyde helped him?

HELL PLEASE.

Now that a censorship has been placed on Queen Marie's utterances, we are more than ever convinced that the one thing for her to do is to love to see a man smoke a pipe.

MISS RUTH M'ELROY'S GAY NIGHT IN SPAIN

ST. LOUIS POST-DISPATCH

MISS RUTH M'ELROY'S
GAY NIGHT IN SPAINBallroom of Portland Place Residence Turned Into Patio for Debut.

AY señoritas, grand dames, toreros and gentlemen of the diplomatic corps, dined and danced last night in a spacious patio of Southern Spain, built in the ballroom of the home of Mr. and Mrs. Warren Finley McElroy, Portland place, for the presentation of their daughter, Miss Ruth, to the social world.

After hors d'oeuvres in the dining room where long tables were set with tempting edibles and surrounded by figures of tango dancers, a bull fight and the royal coat of Spain, the guests were led to a broad, white carpeted staircase lined with palms interspersed with great baskets of flowers, gifts of the debutantes.

Entering the patio through an arched wrought-iron gateway, the young clad figures found themselves in a moonlit arbor, with grapevines twining themselves over walls on which stippling had traced the blue and gold finish.

Orange Trees in Corners. Orange trees heavily laden with fruit grew in corners and bright-colored blossoms trailed over the sides of long window boxes. Green screen doors replacing arched windows, swung inward on tiny balconies, where potted flowers grew in abundance, and invited wanderers.

Great crystal chandeliers had their way to hexagonal lanterns on iron brackets placed at intervals about the room.

The tables, 20 of them, each seat-

12, were spread under a lattice covered with grapevine. Each was set with fat tapers in iron containers and adorned with well-filled bowls.

Dinner was served in the moonlight, the effect produced by arti-

cial blue light flooding the room and diffused through material over the vines, while in a nearby

DRINK WATER TO HELP WASH OUT KIDNEY POISON

If Your Back Hurts or Bladder Bothers You, Begin Taking Salts

When your kidneys hurt and your back feels sore don't get scared and proceed to load your stomach with a lot of drugs that excite the kidneys. Keep your kidneys clean like you keep your bowels clean, by flushing them with a mild, harmless salt which helps to remove the body's waste and stimulate them to their normal activity. The function of the kidneys is to filter the blood. In 24 hours they strain from 500 grains of acid and waste so we can readily understand the vital importance of keeping the kidneys active.

Drinking a good water—you eat, drink too much; also get from any pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast each morning for a few days and your kidneys may then act fine. This salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithium, and has been used for years to help clean and stimulate clogged kidneys; also to neutralize the acids in the system so they are no longer a source of irritation, thus often relieving bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia water drink, which every one should take now and then to help keep the kidneys clean and active. Take this; also keep up the water drinking, and no doubt you will wonder what became of your kidney trouble and backache.

What Are You Doing For Your Puny Child?

One Boy Gained 11 Pounds in 7 Weeks and is Now Strong and Healthy

For weak, frail, underdeveloped children—and especially those that have sickness and need a sure builder that promotes the growth of teeth and bones. Cod Liver Oil is the one medicine supreme—nothing helps like it.

But it is nasty and repulsive and evil smelling and nearly always upsetting children's stomachs—so now up-to-date chemists advise McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablets.

Children love them as they do candy, because they are sugar coated and taste to taste. One boy gained 11½ pounds in seven weeks, and is now healthy and happy—thousands of other children have grown strong and robust.

Sixty tablets for 60 cents at Wolff-Wilson Drug Stores and all druggists—but be sure and insist on McCoy's—the original and genuine.

Give them to the sickly, frail child for 80 days, and if they don't help—send back the druggist is authorized to hand you back the money you paid for them.

In addition to being theftproof, the lock will do away with all ropes, straps and bars, lightening the mail bags considerably.

FRED ESEN SIGNS
$50,000 BOND; IS ASSESSED $1125

County Judge Smiley Calls Attention to Fact That the Boss Has No Realty
in His Own Name.

SAYS HE PROTESTED BUT WAS OUTVOTED

Demands Audit of School
Funds From Which
Brother of Politician Got $5000 Loan.

Fred Essen, Republican boss of St. Louis County, who qualified as a surety in the sum of $50,000 on the bond of the County Treasurer, has no assessment in the county for real estate and only $1125 assessment for personal property. Presiding Judge Smiley of the County Court declared yesterday in a formal statement to his colleagues on the bench. The occasion was a demand by Smiley, the Democratic "one-man opposition" in the court, for an audit of county school funds to show details of all loans from them made to individuals by the court, under authority of the law.

Judge Smiley did not read his statement, but showed it to Associate Judge Preles, who said: "Those are not my sentiments, but you can put it in the record if you want." Associate Judge Bobring was absent. The statement was incorporated in the record.

Casual inquiry recently by Smiley disclosed a $5000 loan made five years ago to Hugo Essen, brother of the boss, on which interest has not been paid for three years. As was told in the Post-Dispatch last week, Hugo Essen is asking for a renewal of this loan in the sum of $6500, covering the defaulted interest. Smiley demanded that the County Counselor be instructed to collect.

Protested, But Was Outvoted.
Fred Essen and the late D. C. Taylor were informers of the Hugo Essen note, Smiley pointed out, calling attention to Fred Essen's assessment as a surety for Mrs. Michael Eble, who recently was appointed treasurer, succeeded her husband, who died in office. Smiley has said he protested in court against acceptance of Essen as a surety on this bond, but that he knew of no action he could take because he was outvoted by his Republican colleagues.

Protested, But Was Outvoted.
Fred Essen and the late D. C. Taylor were informers of the Hugo Essen note, Smiley pointed out, calling attention to Fred Essen's assessment as a surety for Mrs. Michael Eble, who recently was appointed treasurer, succeeded her husband, who died in office. Smiley has said he protested in court against acceptance of Essen as a surety on this bond, but that he knew of no action he could take because he was outvoted by his Republican colleagues.

There are a number of other sureties on Mrs. Eble's bond, which is for $200,000. It is Smiley's understanding that any one of them might be liable for the whole sum in the unlikely event all the others defaulted.

In a sworn statement before a notary public on Aug. 28 last, Essen said he owned county real estate of a reasonable value of $30,000 and personal property worth $50,000 a total of $80,000. Essen who controls the Watchman-Advocate real estate, which is in the name of a son, Roy Essen, is assessed for $300. Hugo Essen, who recently bought land not yet as settled in his name, has a present assessment of $4320.

$26,000 Land Assessed at $4180.
Fred Essen and Jacob L. Baber, a local Republican National Committee man, last year bought for $76,000, on credit, about 40 acres of farm land near St. Louis and LaSalle roads, holding it for possible subdivision. It is assessed for $4180 in the name of the former owner, Ross Neff.

Essen values his Clayton home, which is unencumbered at $60,000, and he values the Watchman-Advocate property, which he owns, although in his son's name, at $10,000. In addition, he relates, he owns five lots in Clayton held in the names of his three children and has a half interest in 32 acres and a house at Pond, assessed at a total of $1375, which was bequeathed to him and his sister by an aunt, Mrs. Caroline Weinraub.

Essen was confident, he said, he could meet his share of the surety bond if called on, though there was no reason to think he would be. He said he had nothing to do with the assessments when asked about the disparity between them and values he places on his holdings.

Assessor Says It's All Right.

Assessor Herpel said the basis of assessment in the county generally was 40 per cent of value in rural section and 50 per cent in towns. He declared the assessment on Essen's home was about right in view of its probable value and explained that the Essen-Baber property had been assessed low as farm land but would be assessed higher if made into a subdivision. Assessments are made by Herpel's office, ordinarily, by reference to the figures for each preceding year, but where values in some section are thought to have changed considerably, Herpel said, he and his deputies go in the field and make new appraisals.

Rubber Dagger, Red Ink, Make Law School "Crime"

Professor's Hoax Excites St. Louis U. and Proves to Students How Eyewitness Accounts Are Likely to Disagree

Junior law students of St. Louis University were listening to a lecture by Prof. C. C. Wheaton at 10 a.m. yesterday when Leo Halasay, a member of the class, got up to open a window. Another law student, John Casey Jr., edged near Halasay and they had angry words.

For several days prior to this outburst they had been engaged in an apparent feud, and the startled class watched them in apprehensive silence. Suddenly Casey struck Halasay a blow, knocking him aside, and the classmates saw Halasay draw what appeared to be a knife and stab Casey.

Groaning, Casey slumped to the floor, a red stain spreading over his shirt front. Halasay pushed frantically through a group of students near the door and escaped.

Class Throw Into Confusion.

Immediately the class room was thrown into utmost confusion. Some of the students started after Halasay. Three rushed to Casey's side and panic lay at the sight of the red stain, they carried him to the administration office. Word of the tragedy spread through the school. Members of the faculty hurried to the scene and Dean Alphonse Eberle of the Law School tried to assemble the frightened students for an investigation.

Someone remembered that police should be called and at this juncture the stricken Casey ceased groaning and laughed.

The "blood" had come from a bottle of red ink. The "knife" was a rubber dagger. Halasay and Casey had faded bitter enmity. It was all in fun.

"We wished to demonstrate the general inaccuracy of eyewitness accounts," announced Prof. Wheaton, who was the only other man beside the two students in the secret.

A Dozen Different Versions.

Most of the eyewitnesses looked sheepish. They had told a dozen different versions of what had occurred.

Senior law students will be required to interview all the witnesses and prepare cases for the prosecution and defense in a mock trial to be held within two weeks. Halasay is charged with "assault with intent to kill." Casey will appear against him as the State's chief "witness."

His story and the stories told by other eyewitnesses vary amazingly, and Prof. Wheaton considers it was worth throwing the university into consternation to show his students that eyewitness testimony may be very unreliable.

MASTER PLUMBERS ADD $6000 A YEAR FOR CARNEGIE COURSE

National Association Ends Convention—To Meet Next June in Minneapolis.

The board of directors and committee chairmen of the National Association of Master Plumbers closed a three-day meeting at Hotel Statler yesterday with a decision to hold the annual convention of the Association at Minneapolis, June 21 to 23, next year.

Business sessions of the meeting were devoted to the discussion and ballot on reports of the various committee chairmen. Included in the reports were notations to effect standardized plumbing codes throughout the country in conformity with the Hoover plan of standardization. The directors voted to allow an additional $6000 to the annual $2000 allotment toward the support of the course in heating, plumbing and ventilating established by the Association in 1919 at the Carnegie Institute of Technology, Pittsburgh. Fifty-eight youths, sons of members of the association, are at present taking the four-year course, which carries a degree in engineering.

The National Association, of which Albert J. Wilson of San Francisco is president, was organized in 1882 to bring about a higher standard in plumbing codes, and it is in this interest that the course at Carnegie was instituted.

By Associated Press
LONDON, Nov. 11.—Walter Runciman, a Liberal leader in Great Britain, has written to the West Swansea Liberal Association that he will not seek re-election from West Swansea at the next election.

It has been known for some time that Runciman and former Premier Lloyd George had been at political odds. Runciman has always been an ardent supporter of Lord Oxford and Asquith, who recently resigned his leadership of the Liberal party after a break with Lloyd George. Runciman has been at various periods financial secretary of the Treasury, Minister of Education, Minister of Agriculture and president of the Board of Trade.

Clare was alleged to have hidden the narcotics in the baggage, which was permitted to cross the border without inspection. The arrest was made in New York.

Three Kansas State Banks Close. By the Associated Press

TOPEKA, Kan., Nov. 11.—Three state banks, which were developed by the savings of a Northwest Kansas pioneer, have gone into a receivership. The banks—the Citizens' State of Hays, Ellsworth State of Ellsworth and Farmers' State of Walker—were a part of the estate of the late C. G. Cochran, who homesteaded a quarter section of land in Rice County 45 years ago. All were closed by the order of their boards of directors. Mr. Cochran died several months ago.

Twenty-two firemen, members of one truck and three engine companies, answered a fire alarm from Tenth street and Morrison avenue yesterday at 7 p.m. and found it had been turned in by an elderly woman who apparently had mistaken the box for a mail box. District Fire Chief Haines mailed the letter left in the box before ordering his men back to their stations.

AFTER ALL, what good is money? Merely as paper and coin, no good at all. But when it is used to create happiness—to bring joy to the hearts and smiles to the faces of little children—then money is of almost magic value.

The Community Fund gears money to relief of sorrow in places where happiness has been unknown, and the money you give to the Community Fund is of almost magic value. Do you care?

Detectives with a search warrant last night visited the cafe of Roy Yowell, 5558 Pershing avenue, and arrested Yowell after they reported, they found two quarts of gin, five and one-half quarts of moonshine whisky and 55 bottles of home-made beer in the saloon and storeroom adjacent.

HEIR TO MILLIONS HELD ON BAD CHECK CHARGE

His Fortune Said to Be Tied Up and He Forgot to Notify Bank of Check.

By Leased Wire From the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Nov. 11.—William Barton French, prominent in society here and in Paris and heir to millions, spent five hours in a cell in the Tombs yesterday while his attorney searched frantically in the Criminal Courts Building for someone to sign an application for bail.

French was arrested when two New York detectives boarded the French liner Paris as she entered Quarantine. He was arraigned a few hours later before Magistrate Norris in Tombs Court on a charge of being a fugitive from justice.

The complaint says that a check for $3500, cashed by French at the Thomas Cook & Sons tourist agency in Nice, was returned by the Guaranty Trust Co., where marked "No funds." Until the detectives arrested him, French was technically in custody of Capt. Joseph Bloncourt of the Paris.

Fortune Tied Up.

In behalf of French it was said that because of "family disagreements" a considerable sum had been deposited to him, tied up in the vault, and that he had neglected to notify the bank that he had signed the check. That institution declined to discuss the case yesterday. French characterized the charges as "all bunk."

A. R. Latson, an attorney representing the tourist company here, and Assistant District Attorney Mokane asked Magistrate Norris to fix bail of $5000 and adjourn the hearing until a further investigation could be made. This was done and Outerbridge Horsey, attorney for French, let his client go to a cell in the Tombs, saying he was going to get a writ of habeas corpus.

Three hours later Horsey returned to the Criminal Courts Building with an application for bail. He sought Magistrate Norris, but the latter had gone home. Then followed a tedious search over the building for some Judge who could sign the application. It was nearly 3 o'clock before Horsey obtained the signature of Judge Nott of General Sessions, and repaired to the Tombs to get his client.

Mother Not Responsible for Debts.

French emerged, flicking bits of dust from his black fur collared greatcoat and muttering of "injustice." Earlier in the day he had remarked to news reporters: "Something like this happens every time I come home."

French, who is 31, is the son of the late Seth Barton French, former associate of J. P. Morgan. His mother, who was Mary Walker Fearn, now lives in Paris where she maintains a residence on the boulevard St. Germain. Until recently young French lived there, too, but a few weeks ago Paris newspapers carried a small advertisement announcing that Mrs. Seth Barton no longer would be responsible for debts contracted by her son, William Barton French. After that French dropped out of sight.

His second wife, the former Hazel P. Irman, returned to New York and his mother left for Beaujou, refusing to discuss her son's affairs. French was divorced by his first wife, the former Jeanne Emmet, in 1920.

After leaving the Tombs French went to the Metropolitan Club, where he expects to stay while in New York.

France to Extradite French for Trial in Nice.

Copyright 1926, by the Times and Pulitzer Publishing Co., New York World.

PARIS, Nov. 11.—It is the intention of French authorities to bring William Barton French back to France to go on trial in Nice on a charge of passing a worthless check for $3500. French, on account of his name, had no difficulty in getting Cook's local agent in Nice to cash the check.

Until a few years ago the passing of worthless checks in France was punishable only by a fine; but a new law makes this a prison offense, though offenders are usually given as heavy sentences as are given in the United States.

Passenger Plane at Kansas City.

By the Associated Press.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Nov. 11.—A new era in the Southwest's airplane history was marked with the arrival yesterday of the huge "bus" of the air, the Ford-Stout three-motored, all-metal monoplane from Chicago, carrying eight persons. The plane landed here at 4:30 p.m. It left Chicago at 8:55, arrived at Moline, Ill., at 11:40 a.m., leaving there at 1:20. It is a trial trip over the Chicago-Dallas air mail route, and the National Air Transport, Inc., plane a continuation of trial flights to determine whether patronage would justify regular air passenger service over the Chicago-Dallas route. It is planned to use the plane in passenger service between Kansas City and St. Louis later.

Sanitarium Patient Ends Life.

A verdict of suicide was returned by Coroner Vitt today in the case of Mrs. Mary L. Steele, 55 years old, a patient at the City Sanitarium, who was found dead in bed there at 7:55 a.m. yesterday. Miss Genevieve Hardy, head attendant, testified, Mrs. Steele had tied one end of a pillow slip to her bed and had twisted the other end around her neck.

WOMAN BEGINS PRAYING WHEN ARRESTED AS SHOPLIFTER

Prisoner Identified as Wife of Former Convict, and Who Has Been Apprehended 40 Times.

A woman detained as a shoplifter by employees of Famous-Barr Co. yesterday afternoon, fell down on her knees and began praying loudly when Detective Sergeant Schenk and Blake entered the room where she was held, and virtually had to be carried from the place by the policemen.

The woman recognized her as a previous offender known as Billie Gray and now the wife of Monte Bosstien, former convict and thief. She made no comment on the charge that she had stolen three handbags worth $37.50, beyond saying "There are times when the larceny just comes to the surface. I can't help it."

She has been arrested 40 times, has twice been sentenced to the workhouse and has been fined on two other occasions. She also served a term in the Iowa State Reformatory for petty larceny, according to police records.

Prisoner, at Head of 400 Outside Sing Sing, Finds Loaded Revolver and Gives It Up.

By the Associated Press.

OSSINING, N. Y., Nov. 11.—Pete Novello, a first offender prisoner from New York, had it in his power today to attempt a prison delivery on a large scale but withstood the temptation flung in his path by chance. A loaded revolver he found while outside the prison walls he turned over to a keeper.

Behind the prisoner, marching together, were 400 other prisoners, all outside the walls, on their way from dormitories 200 yards away, to the breakfast hall inside the walls.

The revolver was a .32 caliber, with every chamber loaded, and was identified as belonging to a night watchman outside the walls. It is thought that it dropped from his pocket accidentally. The weapon was found an hour and a half after the patrolman had gone off duty. The patrolman, Harry Querry, was immediately suspended. WEST VIRGINIA CORRUPTION Defeated Democratic Congressman Charged Open Vote-Buying, Bribery and Coercion.

By the Associated Press.

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Nov. 11.

The Reed campaign fund investigating committee of the Senate was asked today by Representative J. Alfred Taylor (Dem.) to extend its inquiry to West Virginia. Taylor was defeated by 38 votes for reelection in the Sixth District of his State by E. T. England (Rep.).

Charges of vote-buying and other irregularities were made in a telegram to Senator Reed from Missouri, chairman of the committee.

As reliably informed, that city, State and Federal officials were active in intimidating, coercing and bribing election officials as well as voters, Taylor's message read.

"Votes were purchased outright, with little or no effort to conceal the transaction. As a result of many of these illegal practices warrants have been issued for Mayor Wertz of Charleston, and a number of other offenders, and other warrants are said to be forthcoming.

An investigation by your committee would be welcomed by decent citizens of the State, irrespective of party."

SALTON, Ga., Nov. 11.—Mrs. Woodrow Wilson, first wife of the President, made a life-sized portrait of the Rev. A. W. Gaston, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church here from 1868 to 1886, which hangs in the ladies' parlor of the church.

The work, done in 1879 by Ellen Lewis Axson, who later was to be the first lady of the land, was presented the same year to the Rev. Mr. Gaston, an intimate friend of her father, then pastor of the Presbyterian Church at Rome.

Only recently was it found among the late Dr. Gaston's effects, to become one of the church's most treasured possessions. The portrait is signed simply "E. L. Ax-son." As a girl, the late Mrs. Wilson had considerable artistic talent and is known to have done many canvases.

DIES AFTER DRIVING AUTO IN RIVER TO KILL HIS WIFE

NEW YORK, Nov. 11.—George Lupine died today, the victim of an automobile plunge into East River which his wife told police was part of a plot to kill her so that he could collect her insurance. ### BOOKMAKER CHEATED HIM OF $52,000, BANK TELLER SAYS

New York District Attorney to Investigate Story of Embezzler of $45,000.

NEW YORK, Nov. 11.—An investigation of race track bookmakers is to follow a story of trickery told by C. Russell Morton, one of the three Bowery Savings Bank tellers under arrest for embezzlement of $45,000. The action against the bookmakers was promised by District Attorney Bancroft, to whom Morton related how he had been cheated of $52,000 in winnings.

Morton said he began "playing the ponies" about two years ago and when the bookmakers learned that he was a bank teller they threatened to "tell of him" unless he increased his bets. To comply with the demands of the bookmakers, Morton said he took $5200 from the bank and placed it on a "10 to 1 shot." The horse won, but when Morton appeared to collect his bet the "bookie," he related, told him he had not placed the money on the horse because he had been confidentially informed the horse would not win.

Instead of returning his $5200, Morton said, the bookmaker put $10,000 of it on a "25 to 1 shot" which did not win. The remainder of the $5200 was lost in an effort to recoup.

Morton, who tried to commit suicide by leaping from a window in the District Attorney's office where he was arrested Tuesday, was held in $5000 bail with Clarence Oliver Reginald Losse, the third teller, was released on $5000 bail.

Residents of Interior Burn Papers to Appear Spirits of Monsters, Special Correspondence of the Post-Dispatch.

SHANGHAI, Oct. 20.—Thousands of Chinese living in the villages and towns of the Yangtze Valley and the heart of Central China have been given their first view of an airplane. The Cantonese army has a number of planes, most of which are piloted by Russians.

Some of the aircraft have at times lost their way and have treated residents in out-of-the-way villages to the unusual sights of these mechanical birds swooping down. In one village the entire population turned out most of the villagers clambering to the tops of their houses so as to gain a better view. The air was filled with shouts and hundreds flocked to joss-houses to burn paper to the spirits of the unknown air monsters. The villagers were quite upset for several days after.

100,000 GIFT TO FUND PHARMACY COLLEGE

William R. Warner & Co. Heads List in Campaign for $300,000.

The campaign to raise $300,000 and equip a new building for the St. Louis College of Pharmacy got under way yesterday with a $50,000 donation from William R. Warner & Co., manufacturers of St. Louis and York.

A letter to the president and trustees of the college, Mr. Pfeiffer, president of the firm, announced the gift, and said:

We are convinced a properly equipped building will enable you to give your student body better training, thus raising the standard of the profession of pharmacy, and thereby rendering a service to the health and welfare of the city.

May we add that in our judgment no city is better located, better situated or can better use a modern progressive and efficient college of pharmacy, than the city of St. Louis.

We hope the business men and women of St. Louis and the surrounding territory St. Louis serves, all of whom will benefit either directly or indirectly through your efforts to your support and contribution in full the $300,000 you

The letter was read by Dr. James E. Caspari, dean of the school at a meeting of the executive committee of the campaign committee at the Chamber of Commerce. Carl F. Gehr, general chairman of the campaign committee, expressed appreciation of the gift.

The St. Louis branch of Warner & Co. is at 404 South Fourth street.

PRINCETON'S BREAK WITH HARVARD THE FOURTH AMONG 'BIG THREE'

NASSAU'S MOVE THIS TIME TO KEEP DIGNITY

Similar Occurrence Recorded in 1889, and in 1895 Crimson Dropped Yale After Rough Football Game.

By Lawrence Perry.

(Continued from page 1.)—Princeton's move in breaking off all athletic relations with Harvard comes as no surprise to those who realized that old Nassau had a certain dignity to maintain.

But it was not the bitter cartoons, editorials and jokes in the Harvard Lampoon of last Saturday, nor the supercilious flavor of the editorial in the Harvard Crimson, the student organ of thought and reaction, that caused Princeton to break with one of her sister members of the Big Three.

Rather it was a fundamental flaw in the relations of the undergraduates of the two universities which caused the Princeton authorities to decide that the cause of sportsmanship would not be enhanced by further association with the Cambridge institution.

The prime objects of athletic contests are the development or furtherance of mutual friendship, common understandings and respect equally shared. These highly essential elements are displayed by suspicion which finds voice in innuendo, by dislikes which burgeon into such manifestations of open rancor as marked the close of the football game between the Tigers and the Crimson at Cambridge last week; there is no recourse but to effect a clean break.

Breach Long Expected.

There has been a growing ill-feeling between Harvard and Princeton ever since football was resumed following the war. It will be recalled that after a break in 1889, similar to that which has just occurred, the two universities did not meet on the gridiron until 1895, when Harvard and Yale broke as a result of the rough game at Springfield, Mass., in 1884.

Nassau and the Crimson played while Yale and Harvard remained apart. In 1892 and 1896, the Tigers winning both games. Then Yale and the Cambridge institution patched up their differences and Harvard did not renew her two-year contract with the Jersey University.

It was not until 1911, when the late Ferg Haughton took charge of Harvard football, that a new agreement was made. Harvard had strong, well-coached eleven in those days and in addition to paying off old scores on Yale, Haughton thought it would be finely to settle with Princeton, too.

So it was in that year that the Big Three came into existence as a constructive body. Harvard lost the 1911 game to Princeton, quite to the surprise of Harvard, but thereafter the Crimson triumphed year after year until the entrance of the United States into the World War interrupted intercollegiate games.

Princeton Changed After War.
Princeton teams of those pre-war days were noted for their mildness. They bent over backward in avoiding anything in football that approximated roughness and no opponent left the field with an idea it had been up against rugged competition. Harvard enjoyed the games with the Tigers and regarded them as pleasant workouts for the Yale contest. As for Princeton, she accepted her beatings with equanimity.

But after the war a new policy was installed. Roger, who had been called to take up the coaching job, believed that the only way to knock out tacklers was to hit them hard and that the only effective defense was a dynamic defense. Roger did more than adopt Haughton's ideas of hard, clean play, but it was a fact that from 1919 on, the Crimson faced a different sort of opposition from the Tigers than in the past.

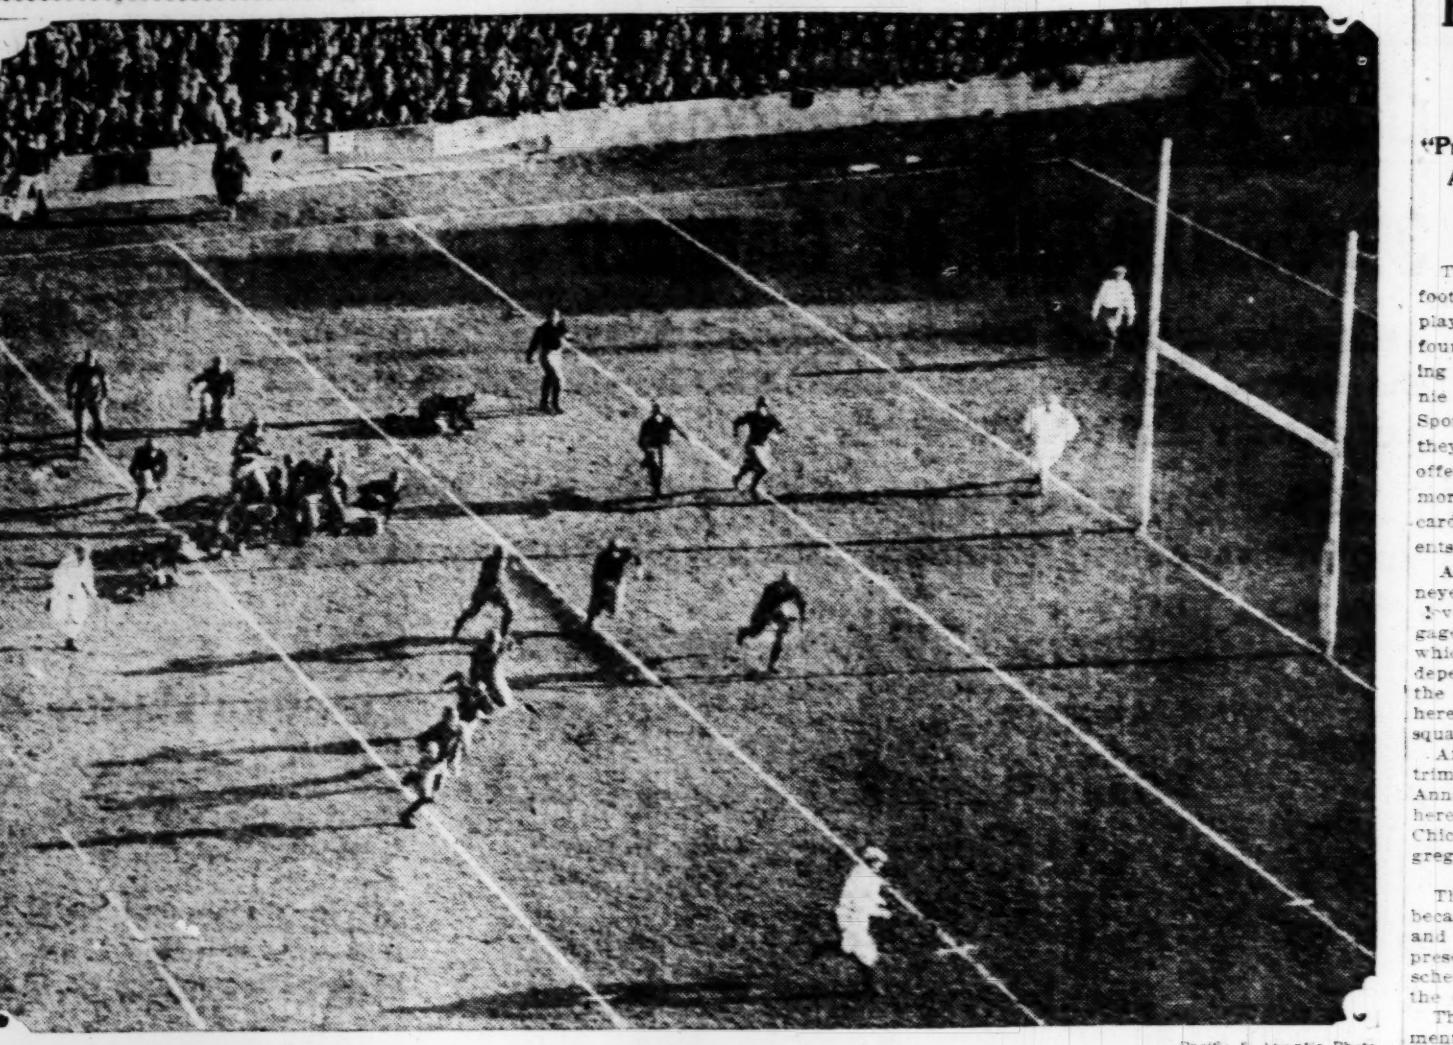

In the period from 1919 to date, Harvard's chain of victories over the Tigers was pretty completely broken. The Crimson won but one game, tied two and was defeated five times. After every game the air was filled with rumors of foul play by Princeton and the situation between the two universities steadily grew from bad to worse.

The Noncoaching Agreement.
That noncoaching agreement between Yale and Princeton, or rather between Bill Roger and Ted Jones, was suggested to this season. Whether or not the two coaches will renew this understanding remains to be seen. The writer does not believe that they will.

There is no good reason why it should be. There is nothing reprehensible about scouting as it is conducted these days. The practice got its bad name from the methods which were applied in the early days when scouts were really spies.

Those were days when spying was a part of intercollegiate sports, days when at New London, with Harvard and Yale crews training for the annual Thames regatta, keen-eyed young men of both colleges would lurk behind trees of a rival institution.

Start of What May Prove the Last Princeton-Harvard Touchdown

The picture shows Caulkins of Princeton (in the foreground, on the fifteen-yard line) starting the run which led to the only touchdown scored in the Princeton-Harvard game, Saturday. Every player and official in the game appears in the photo.

The break in relations between the schools seems likely to make the above score the last for years to come.

Large Missouri Squad Prepares For Bear Eleven

Coach Henry Sees Opportunity to Season Reserves in Next Two Games.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

COLUMBIA, Mo., Nov. 11.—No longer faced with the necessity of holding his squad to a fixed limit for games on foreign fields, Coach Gwin Henry this week is round-tripping the University of Missouri grid aggregation powerful in numbers as well as skill to finish the Tigers' 1926 football season in two home games with Washington University's Bears here Saturday of this week and with the University of Kansas' Jayhawks the following weekend.

With the season nearing its close, and with all of his men in good physical condition, Henry is not letting too heavy a pace this week.

Monday rain caused cancellation of the first two games, and since then, while there have been daily mock scrimmages between the varsity and freshmen, when Kansas and Washington formations could be studied and the final touches placed upon the Tiger attack, there has been little of the more strenuous variety of work.

Henry Is Confident.

Henry expresses himself as confident of the condition of his men for the two remaining games, both mentally and physically. Spirits were naturally low when the squad returned from its disappointing defeat at the hands of the University of Oklahoma at Norman last week, but the team, the latter part of this week is beginning to show its usual zip, and the mentor in sum, it will have returned to full power by the time of the Bear invasion.

Between 25 and 40 men are getting work on offense and defense, and Henry, if the Bears and Jayhawks prove as easy a comparative source indicate that they may be expected to spend much of the time in both games giving the recruits experience which will stand them in good stead when they take up the burdens next fall of this year's regulars who graduate in the spring.

Washington to Send Four Elevens to Missouri Game

Freshmen and Third Elevens Will Be on Sidelines at Columbia, Saturday — Bears Concerned Over Their Defense Against a Forward Pass Attack.

Red and white helmets, topping off the green jerseys of the Washington U. varsity squad, battled each other yesterday afternoon on Francis Field in the stiffest scrimmage session thus far decreed in the preparation for the Missouri game Saturday. The white-helmeted players using Tiger formations, were the "scout" or third-string eleven, while under the red helmets the first and second string combinations were successfully sent against Missouri tactics.

The first two elevens will leave for Columbia by train tomorrow morning and will be followed Saturday morning by the third string. The freshman squad of 40 men, who are providing colorful hopes on the Pike, will also be given the trip by the athletic department. These last two groups will leave the city early Saturday morning by bus, arriving at Columbia at noon.

Pass Defense in Doubt.

The one great concern in the minds of the Bear fans who are hoping for a reversal of form in Saturday's meeting between the two elevens concerns the Bear defense against the plentiful Tiger passes. The Tigers have failed to stop the cold snap to that at Stillwater last Saturday, in contrast to the weather under which practice is now conducted, the heat was intense and spectators sat in the stands in shirt-sleeves, rushing for the drinking fountain between halves.

Whittler at Fullback.

The only change in Saturday's line-up for the locals will be in the backfield, where a new arrangement of starters has been made. Hayes will call signals as customary but at halfback Capt. Mahan and Hardine will replace last week's arrangement of Hardine and Sempe, while Ted Whittler has been returned to full back played by Mahan against the Aggies.

Both teams are groomed to a fine edge on air offense and a running game, each with clever backfield combinations, and the spectators today centered their interest in counter-attack strategy designed to cripple passing play by the line of scrimmage.

Iowa Meets Minnesota.

The linemen among the 34 players ordered to the train by Tom Hayes to average some six pounds more than the Ohio forwards, and Wiles is bored long at Columbus to offset the odds. He had the advantage of a session curtailed for the Wolverines by departure for the Ohio stadium, where a crowd of $5,000 is in prospect.

At Iowa, Ingersoll marshaled a team battered by Minnesota's crushing attack last week, for the tip to Wisconsin, where the Badgers permitted themselves a glimmer of confidence.

While Washington is always completely recovered, and will undoubtedly be back in the game against the Bears this week. He is the only man on the Tiger hospital list, and Henry thus will have available his full strength against the St. Louisans.

Cold weather and a biting wind have served to cut short practice periods this week, but have added zip to the work while the men were on the field, and have, likewise, given the players worn by three consecutive long trips an opportunity to rest up for their remaining games.

FRENCH CYCLISTS WIN BERLIN 6-DAY RACE

BERLIN, Nov. 11.—The French team, Wambe and Lacouay, are vicars in the six-day bicycle race. They had 327 points and covered 2303 miles. Marcellin and Jungs were second, one lap behind, with 251 miles.

The American team, Harry Horan and Harris Hord, who had fallen 14 laps behind, were ruled out.

BEAVER FALLS, Pa., Nov. 11.—Graduate Manager A. C. Edgcombe of Geneva College confirmed reports today that Coach "Bo" McMillan has opened negotiations with Loyola University for a post-season football game for the Geneva eleven at New Orleans Dec. 4. The game, Edgcombe said, would replace the Geneva contest for that date, which has been abandoned. The Geneva team also will probably go to Jacksonville, Fla., for a game New Year's day.

Edgcombe also said a two-year contract with Bucknell had been tentatively arranged.

Grasses or on hilltops watching the work of the rival crews through telescopes.

They were days too when spires would invade the field of view of the forthcoming gridiron opponents disguised as workmen or hiding beneath the seats of the old wooden stands. Such things are no longer done. No self-respecting college would think of sending spires to observe practice workouts.

These were days when spying was a part of intercollegiate sports, days when at New London, with Harvard and Yale crews training for the annual Thames regatta, keen-eyed young men of both colleges would lurk behind trees of a rival institution.

Blues to Oppose Benid Eleven at Handlan's Park

"Pro" Eleven, With Regulars All in Line, Arrange Game Here for Next Sunday.

By the Associated Press.
GALESBURG, Ill., Nov. 11.—Warriors of the gridiron are not the only ones who are in strenuous training now, nor are the grid classics the only events that attract autumn crowds.

Out in the rural districts, young men and older ones, too, are eating, sleeping and exercising according to set standards to be trim for corn husking contests.

One month ago, the Blues journeyed to Benid and trimmed that team, 9-3, in the locals' first engagement of the season. Benid, which has acquired a reputation in independent circles, smarted under the defeat and the team is coming here at the week-end to try to square accounts.

After trouncing Benid, the Blues tramped to Anna, Ill., outfit at Anna, and played a scoreless tie here with the Pullman Panthers of Chicago, and then met Nevers' aggregation last Saturday.

Four regulars return.

The four regular linemen who, because of previously-accepted jobs and other reasons, could not be present for the big exhibition, are scheduled to be in the lineup in the comeback against Benid.

The Illinois team, its management says, will be accompanied by a band and several traction carloads of home fans.

Sunday's contest will be played at Handlan's Park, at Grand boulevard and Laclede avenue, and instead of the Blues putting up a guarantee as they did for Nevers, only to have the people fail to pay it back in at the gate in large receipts, the Blues and Benid will meet on a percentage basis, the same to receive the long end.

MOVE TO HANDLE SCHEDULES OF 2000 BASKETBALL TEAMS

By the Associated Press.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Nov. 11.—Headquarters of the National Amateur Independent Basketball Association are opened here today for the 1926-27 session, during which the organization will take charge of schedules of arrangements of some 2000 amateur independents teams of Indiana, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Michigan, Illinois, Missouri and Nebraska. The association states that all "Simon pure" amateur teams are eligible for its schedules.

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Nov. 11.—Michigan's line rather than Michigan's brilliant backfield was burdened by the critics today with a major share of responsibility in Saturday's encounter with Ohio State, which merits designation as the 1925 version of the annual "crucial battle" in the Western Conference.

The attention of the critics has focused on the aerial game of the two elevens as shifted on the eve of their meeting to the line of scrimmage with a general agreement that the result will be determined 49 minutes and 47 seconds.

He was unable to obtain a second fall within the two hours' time limit.

STECHER ABLE TO Toss KOTSONAROS BUT ONE TIME IN TWO HOURS

By the Associated Press.

PHOENIX, Ariz., Nov. 11.—Joe Stecher, claimant of the world's heavyweight wrestling championship, last night won from George Kotsonaros, Greek wrestler, by throwing his opponent in one hour, 49 minutes and 47 seconds.

Last Sunday 200 fighters were gathered at the gates where probably not more than 600 passed through.

Smith Eats Winner.

The Smith-Williams bout saw the Chicago veteran starting slow to size up his opponent quickly, realizing that Williams was not a man to cope with him, the Midlet bag of tricks, and then speeding up after urging by Referee Walter Belmer, and giving Johnny a sound trimming. Smith pounded Williams' kidneys throughout the 15 rounds, making his back glow, then radiate, and finally gleam. He opened a bad cut over Williams' left eye, and suffered little punishment in return.

Along about the middle of the bout, Belmer warned Smith that he was about to do his stuff. But four bouts, three were decided in short order, one ending in the first round and the two others in the second stanza. Five rounds is not a big total of boxing, considering that three bouts were decided in less than 15 minutes of actual time.

BELLEVILLE TIGERS TO PLAY Y. M. H. A. SUN

By the Associated Press.

PHOENIX, Ariz., Nov. 11.—The Belleville Tigers will play the Y. M. H. A. football team today at Belleville. In the past, the two teams have clashed twice this season, generally with the teams doing the combat evenly. This year, however, the schedule is so packed that if past history is any guide, it will be a good indicator if it is a closely contested affair.

Last Sunday 200 fighters

were gathered at the gates where probably not more than 600 passed through.

Girl Gains 7 Pounds, Makes Man Happy

"My daughter had constipation, gas on the stomach and a very poor appetite. Since taking Adlerika she has gained 7 pounds and her appetite is good," H. E. Newman.

Adlerika is a compound of the best saline intestinal cleanser with glycerine, buckthorn, cascara and other gas-expelling and detergent elements.

It is excellent for intestinal flatus. It is a disease due to modern ways of living and which is often the true cause of sour stomach, gas bloating, nervous dyspepsia and restless sleep.

Unless most medicines Adlerika acts upon BOTH upper and lower bowel, giving the intestines a real cleaning and bringing out old poisons. What you never thought was in your system. Even if bowels move daily, you will be surprised how much more old matter Adlerika brings out which may have been causing all your trouble.

In slight disorders, like occasional constipation, GAS bloating, indigestion, Drug Co.

They Won't Tumble.

OUR educated St. Louis boxing fans turned up their noses at last night's opening-of-the-season fight card at the Armory.

St. Louis fans have been fed bad matches and served up imitation fights until they can smell something wrong even farther away than Denmark.

Promoter Alex Meter baited his hook with the once magic name of "Midget" Smith; but the local fish just wouldn't bite.

Events proved the fans were justified in remaining away, because Smith entered the ring in roly-poly condition, while Williams, his more or less unknown opponent, did not exhibit any boxing diplomas.

Experience Educates.

S.T. LOUIS is one of the hardest-boiled cities on theistic map. Stung in every square inch of their epidermis, the dyed-in-the-wool boys emerge from the bomb-proof only under the most alluring conditions.

Even then they will not take an expensive chance.

Last year Gene Straus gave St. Louis some fair boxing programs. But it required three shows to draw out a paying house. After confidence once had been established Straus' shows drew fairly well.

However, with $81,000 receipts for 11 shows, the promoters were able to make only a few hundreds of dollars on the season, risking $20,000 to gain about $400.

Washington wants to save the Thanksgiving day engagement for a possible annual arrangement with Missouri University, which has lost its Kansas Thanksgiving day classic.

However, Thanksgiving Day of the future will be devoted to fewer and fewer football games. That is because of the large proportion of out-of-town students, who would rather go home for the holiday than see a football game.

At Washington 42 per cent of the students are non-residents. In the future the number will be greater. The prospect, therefore, of perpetuating a Thanksgiving day football engagement grows more and more remote.

Some Champion.

JOE STECHER last night required considerably more than an hour to throw George Kotsonaros and couldn't repeat the fall within the two-hour limit. Joe must be slipping. Or perhaps Kotsonaros is getting better as middle age approaches. Or is it that "for the championship of the world in the advancement" should read: "Just another exhibition."

Certainly Joe is making an exhibition of himself in letting Kotsonaros stand him off, if he (Joe) is really a champion.

A Lusty Infant.

THAT milk-fed infant, Organized Baseball, is still growing. What a prodigy he will be, if he ever grows up. For example, Jake Ruppert, having built the greatest baseball stadium in the world, only a few seasons ago, is to enlarge the same to seat 50,000 persons.

The new stadium will be larger football stadium in the country. It is twice the size of Shibe's Park in seating capacity.

And yet, during the late world series, the Yankees were in the last two games, not able to draw more than 50,000 persons!

Fans may inquire why a larger seating capacity is required. And now we are going to be real naughty and tell the truth about it.

The stadium is being increased so it can accommodate the FOOTBALL crowds for the Army-Navy games of the future, not for the world series crowd. At least, that's one reason.

No Credit. ONE person who helped the Cardinals' world series success materially has received no credit whatever. What would the world series have been, had it not been for Phil Ball, who built a park big enough to hold the series?

Phil got a kick out of seeing a world series game in his own park, even if his own team wasn't playing.

This is another rear. Perhaps Dan Howley and Rogers Hornsby will be battling for world's honors next fall.

Perhaps:

Blue-Berlebach Match Planned.

Both Coached by Illinois Men,

DAYTON, O., Nov. 11.—Interest in the Webster-High-Stivers High game here Saturday afternoon is high because both teams are coached by Illinois men and for the further reason that the Illinois shift has been successfully used for the last three seasons by Stivers.

Webster has a record similar to Stivers. Instead of wearing the Orange and Black uniforms usually seen, Stivers men will be all decked out in red gridiron shirts because the brilliant orange is the color of the visitors' uniforms, a color which is distinctively Stivers' in other games.

Coach Stahl is well satisfied with the showing his men made yesterday in their scrimmage. Athletic Manager Worst said today that tickets for the game are in heavy demand and as the alumni will turn out en masse at the home-coming affair.

Renewed Evidence of Ease of Money Rates Factor in Market — Oils and Utilities Prominent.

Thursday 146.74 135.74

By Leased Wire from the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Nov. 11.—The Evening Post, in its copyrighted financial review today, says:

"Under the impetus of insistent professional bidding for several pivotal stocks, prices of stocks forged ahead in moderately active trading. Bright shorts were limited to cover commitments in some issues while pressure was directed against other parts of the list. The two leading favorites, U. S. Steel and General Motors, were neck and neck in a race for leadership in the market. In a race for leadership in the market, the two leading favorites, U. S. Steel and General Motors, were neck and neck in a race for leadership in the market. The former, however, in General Motors was much smaller than yesterday, as traders awaited announcement of dividend action by directors. The continued rise of money rates was reflected in renewed buying of Government bonds, several issues being recorded in the group. Industrial bonds lacked uniformly, however, and some irregularity developed in the rail investments."

Evidence of Money Ease.

"Renewed evidence of ease of money rates appeared to form the basis for continued operations for the rise in stocks. Time money was freely offered for short terms 1% per cent while longer term money was at 1% per cent. Call loans again again led the Stock Exchange at six per cent and on the outside market a record was quoted. Bankers' acceptances were lowered 1% of 1 per cent on to three month maturity. Bankers' acceptances dropped a similar amount this week. Although leading industrial issues moved within relatively narrow limits, several specialists were held up by professionals who probably took advantage of a crowded and often interestless market. Most Baking shares touched for weeks with American Agricultural Chemical preferred, Texas Gulf Sulphur, United Railways Investment preferred, Virginia Iron, Coal and Coke and C. & I. Inc. were included."

G. M. Meeting Awaited.

"General Motors showed a tendency to ease off, and for the second time in recent trading dropped below the Steel in market value although the market did not seem to expect an actual dividend of $1 a share at the directors' meeting to be held after the close of the market. Half share did not fall appreciable gain. Gold failed to rally after a setback but the general investment climate was under. Oil securities were in rather good demand, however, possibly reflecting an expected amount of spending in record volume for the construction of oil refineries. The state of the market was a trifle firmer.

Cotton Demand Firm.

"Prices in the principal commodity markets were steady but fluctuations were narrow and the volume of trading was slackened. Cotton was a trifle firmer.

Among Utilities

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Nov. 11.—Engineers Public Service Co. reported net earnings in 11 states reports considerably less than $25,730,000 for the 12 months ended Sept. 30, compared with $25,430,028 for the 12 months ended Aug. 31 of this year. The balance for the month brings the total for 1925 to $30,000,000, about $300,000,000. Another break in Italian exchange and a brisk recovery in Chinese rates in sympathy with an upturn of a cent an over in silver were other developments of the day.

GIRL SLAIN WHILE GOING HOME FROM VIOLIN LESSON

Chicago Police Believe She Was Mistaken for Another Who Had Received Threatening Letter.

By the Associated Press CHICAGO, Nov. 11.—Shot down as she was hurrying home through the dusk from a violin lesson, 15-year-old Victoria Dorothy Delemais was slain, police believed today as a result of mistaken identity.

The girl's mother heard her cry as she fell mortally wounded in the middle of the street near her step-father's delicatessen store.

A theory that the girl, a pupil in the Chicago Heights high school was killed when she fled from the advances of some loiterer, was discredited when it was discovered that two shots had been fired from afar away as the sidewalk. Police agreed that such an assailant would be unlikely to fire more than once if at all, and the girl apparently had not been harmed before she was shot.

Detectives learned that Victoria very much resembled a Miss Helen Laguna, who lives near the delicatessen and who a short time ago received a threatening letter from a suitor she dismissed.

Also it was found that an unidentified man had forced his way into the girl's home to look at the body, had become very agitated and had fled to a waiting automobile when attempts were made to question him.

No one witnessed the shooting although one woman said she ran to her door in time to see a man slipping away in the dusk as the girl's steps faltered.

SAY CANAL PUT BURDEN ON MISSISSIPPI RIVER

Witnesses at Lake Level Hearing Declare Drainage of Vast Area Was Altered.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11.—Testimony that the 30-mile Chicago drainage canal had so affected natural tendencies as to influence the economic development of the entire Middle West, was offered by complainants witness in the Supreme Court lake diversion proceedings before Charles E. Hughes, special master, yesterday.

Constructed a quarter of a century ago to provide adequate sewage disposal facilities for Chicago, the canal, it was asserted, has disturbed the natural drainage formation of thousands of years, reversed the courses of two rivers and diverted the draining of the entire Great Lakes system from the St. Lawrence to the Mississippi River.

In concluding a two-day examination of Dr. James W. Goldthwait, professor of geology in Dartmouth College, the complainant counsel put into the record testimony that, prior to construction of the canal, the two great major river systems of the continent, the St. Lawrence and the Mississippi, were separate units, flowing in separate directions. The canal, he said, cut off the natural drainage of the entire Great Lakes system, adding several hundred thousand square miles to the drainage burden of the Mississippi system.

In cross-examination, counsel for the Sanitary District and seven co-defendant states, asked Dr. Goldthwait to read excerpts from his own publications, in which, in 1911, he praised the canal project as a work of far-reaching significance to the Middle West. In one article he alluded to future trade possibilities, particularly for Chicago, in the ultimate diversion of Great Lakes commerce to the Mississippi and the Gulf.

CHAPTER I From Dying Lips.

PATROLMAN JOSHUA PINTO, walking his beat at 2 o'clock in the morning, hummed a joyous tune as he turned off the Bowery and swung into East Houston street. It was a wet night, with a raw wind sweeping around the street corners, and Pinto walked along with an air of dogged persistence, as if trying to make the best of a disagreeable duty. His heavy and somewhat florid features were expressionless. For all that his face indicated, he might have been thinking that it was a fine night for a murder, or wishing that he was in plain clothes instead of uniform, or picturing himself in his cozy home playing with his baby, whose lusty "da-das" and "roo-roos" he was pleased to interpret as wonderful linguistic achievements.

Perhaps it was nothing but instinct that caused him to slow down his pace as he passed a squat and rather dilapidated building in the middle of the block. So far as appearances went, it did not differ greatly from its drab and unpossessing neighbors, yet Pinto cast a sharp glance at the ground-floor window, which bore a lettered sign proclaiming that the premises were occupied by Sylvanus Gage, dealer in pipes, tobacco and cigars. As if the building had cast a spell of gloom upon him, the patrolman ceased his humming, and his lips were set in a tight line as he proceeded down the block.

Being an ambitious and hard-working officer, Pinto made it a practice to cultivate the acquaintance of as many as possible of the people living along his beat. He knew Sylvanus Gage, a thin, stoop-shouldered man with a flowing beard, a black cap adorning his bald skull, and mild blue eyes that had a habit of gazing lugubriously at the world through thick lenses rimmed with tarnished gold. Despite his patriarchal appearance, he was reputed to be using his tobacco business as a cloak for a flourishing traffic in stolen goods. So deified did the old man manage his illicit enterprise that the police, though morally certain of their facts, had never been able to produce any evidence against him. Little was known of his housekeeper, a sour and sharp-tongued sartan of uncertain age, but there were those who suspected that she was not entirely innocent of complicity in her employer's clandestine activities.

It may have been of this Pinto was thinking as he plodded along with the measured gait of the sonorous patrolman. The soggy sidewalk glistened in the light from the street-corner lamps, and here and there along the pavement water was forming in little pools. Most of the windows were dark and save for an occasional shifty-eyed and furtively slinking pedestrian, the streets were deserted. Pinto halted for a moment to look at his watch, then quickened his steps, "pulled" the buff-colored box on the corner, and trudged on again.

Once more he was humming a tune. Each of the scattered prowlers he met was subjected to a critical scrutiny out of the corner of his eye.

Now and then he dodged into a dark doorway and tried a look. From time to time he glanced through the window of a store or shop. It was all a matter of habit with Joshua Pinto. For seven years he had pursued the same dull routine, varied only by an occasional transfer to another part of the city, or by a change from night to day duty, or vice versa. He had broken up a few nocturnal street brawls, now and then he had foiled the designs of a second-story artisan, and, on two or three occasions he had caught a safe-blower red-handed, but nothing very exciting had ever happened to him.

On this particular night however, an acute observer might have noticed an air of disquietude about Officer Pinto. There was the mere hint of uneasiness in the way he twirled his nightstick as he walked along, in the intensified alertness with which he inspected the occasional passers-by, in the quick and somewhat nervous glances he cast up and down the shabby streets. Likely it was the rain and the wind, together with the gloom pervading the district, were responsible for his state of mind and possibly his physical discomfort was aggravated by a premonition—though Pinto himself would have called it a "hunch"—that a tragic event was soon to enliven the tedium of his existence!

Again his footsteps dragged as once more he strolled past the establishment of Sylvanus Gage. The building was dark and still, like most of the others in the block, yet something prompted Pinto to cast a suspicious glance at the door and windows, as if he sensed an omen in the shadows clinging to the wall.

He stopped abruptly as a door slammed and a shrill feminine voice started to sing. A woman, scantly dressed and with excited hair fluttering in the wind, was hurrying toward him with excited gestures. "Officer!" She chattered his name and pointed toward the tobacco shop. "There—hurry!"

The patrolman's eyes followed her pointing finger. A second—or, window opened above their heads and a frowsy person, disturbed by the woman's harsh voice, looked out the speaker with apparent unconcern, recognizing the housekeeper of Sylvanus Gage. Another window opened across the street, and a second face looked down, or them.

Officer Pinto, schooled by previous experiences with over-excited females, casually inquired what might be the matter.

"Murder!" retorted the woman. "Murder—that's what's the matter. Why don't you get a move on?"

Pinto permitted himself to be led along. The driver of a milk wagon had hopped his nag to watch the commotion. The woman, jabbering and shivering, opened the door of the tobacco store, pushed the officer inside and switched on the light above the counter.

"There!" She pointed at a door in the rear of the dim shop. "He—Mr. Gage—sleeps back there."

"Well, what's that?" An impatient look cloaked Pinto's real feelings. "He's got to sleep some place, isn't he?"

The woman's eyes blazed. "You stand there handing out sass while he—he may be dying back there."

Trying to steady herself, she gathered up the folds of the tattered robe she wore. "My room's right above his," she explained.

"A few moments ago I jumped out of bed, thinking I heard a sound."

"He's dead," he declared.

The woman shrank back against the counter. "Murdered?"

The officer bawled a command to the neck-craining group at the entrance to stand back. Without answering the housekeeper's question, he looked quickly about the store till he spied a telephone on a shelf behind the counter and faced her.

"Your boss is lying on the floor in there," he announced, jerking his huge head toward the inner room. "With a knife wound in his chest. He was breathing his last just as I got to him."

The housekeeper jerked herself up, a look of sulken passion in her blanched face. "Breathing his last, was he?" Her voice was loud and shrill. "Then he wasn't dead yet!"

"If you'd hurried, as I told you to, we might have saved his life. I'll report you for this, Officer Pinto."

"What kind of sound? You ain't paid for asking fool questions, Officer Pinto. All day long I felt in my bones that something awful was going to happen, and when that noise woke me up I was scared stiff. I grabbed a few clothes and ran down here, but the door to Mr. Gage's room was bolted on the inside. He always shoots the bolt before he goes to bed. I knocked, but not a sound came from the inside. Then I shouted loud enough to wake the dead, but—"

"Your boss is hard of hearing, isn't he?"

"A little. Say, why don't you do something?"

Pinto walked to the outer door, showed away a knot of curious spectators, then sauntered back to where the woman stood. There was a supercilious grin on his lips, but deep in his eyes lurked an uneasy gleam.

"So you've been feeling in your bones that something awful was going to happen," he glibly observed. "Then you hear a noise, and right away you yell murder. You've got some imagination, you have. I ain't going to break in on a bare man just because your bones feel funny. Mine do, too, once in a while, but I don't make any fuss about it. No, sir—You might as well trot back to bed."

Twice she opened her lips to speak, but no words came.

"Out with it! You've got to tell me now."

The woman swallowed. "Why do you want to know?" she asked faintly.

"I've got a reason. Just as Gage was drawing his last breath I got down beside him and asked him if he could tell me who stabbed him. I guess he read my lips; anyhow, he was able to whisper a name. I want to know if it jibes with the name signed to the letter Gage got yesterday."

"Well, then—"she pressed her hands against her breast—"the name on the letter was the Gray Phantom."

Pinto ejaculated hoarsely. "It jibes, all right," he declared.

OYSTERS IN BOXES.

Cut slices two inches thick from a baker's loaf, trim off the crusts. With a teaspoon hollow out each box, brush over with melted butter and toast in the oven a delicate brown. Cream two dozen oysters in a good cream sauce made of a pint of milk, a tablespoonful each of flour and butter made into roux, the butter melted and then thickened with the flour, seasoned with pepper and salt. A little celery and a teaspoonful of onion juice is often added. Fill the boxes with the oysters, after arranging them on lace paper doilies, and garnish with sprays of parsley.

"Who's name was signed to the note?" he demanded.

A look of awe crossed the housekeeper's face. She raised a bony arm and steadied herself against the counter. A grayish pallor had suffused her shrivelled features.

"If your boss was so all-fired scared of the guy that sent him the note, why didn't he call up the police?" he queried suspiciously. Then a look of comprehension dawned in his face.

"I guess, though, that he wasn't very anxious to have the department butt into his affairs, and maybe he thought the other fellow's bite was worse'n his bark. Well, here goes."

ARMISTICE DAY.

THE armistice was signed and sealed. The sirens shrieked and joy bells pealed. Eight years ago today. Confetti floated through the air. The war was over over there. And everyone was gay.

The streets were filled with surging throngs. Who tooted horns and chanted songs, And made the welkin ring; For peace had duly been declared, And in the future we'd be spared From war and everything.

But peace is still as far away, As on that gay and festive day, So many years ago. The payroll robbers run amuck, And through the streets in armored truck. The bankers send their dough.

THE GANGSTERS carry on the strife And think no more of human life Than of a grain of sand.

While we no longer fight the Hun, The barking of the gatling gun Is heard throughout the land.

TOO TRUE.

As Sherman said war is hell but peace is hell when not enforced by due process of law.

Warden Riddle of Leavenworth has resigned. It is rumored that a number of his guests with whom he was very popular have threatened to go out with him as a gesture of disapproval.

TOO TRUE.
